Kansas City Losses Soar Into Millions

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The flood waters receded today as quickly as they rose, leaving at least 18 dead, 1,200 homeless and property damage counted in the millions.

The legacy of 12 inches of rain in 24 hours was devastation in the expensive shops of the city's Country Club Plaza, tedious cleanup along Brush Creek and the Blue River, and worry over the fate of some two dozen people still listed as missing.

The damage, like the metropolitan area, crossed state borders and the governors of Missouri and Kansas each planned to ask federal disaster aid.

Still, because the shopping area is so well known — its Christmas lighting has been depicted in dozens of magazines — the flood is likely to become known as the "Country Club Plaza Flood."

The damage was awesome.

Preliminary estimates in the metropolitan area showed 65 businesses damaged or destroyed; 228 houses, 150 apartments and 300 mobile homes suffering at least some damage.

"It's devastating," said Missouri Gov. Joseph Teasdale, a Kansas City native, after a 2½-hour tour of the area.

Gov. Robert F. Bennett of Kansas pronounced the need critical after his two-hour tour, which included a shopping center in suburban Mission where one store alone estimated $500,000 in lost merchandise.

At the height of the storm Monday night, 2,600 had to flee their homes. The rain stopped by the next mid-day and 1,400 were able to return.

Damage to public property in Kansas City alone was estimated at nearly $5.25 million.

Despite the destruction, it was nowhere near that wrought by the season's other major flood — in the Johnstown, Pa., area. There, the waters broke dams and swept aside houses and trees. The toll was 75 dead and damage of $200 million.

In terms of property damage, the hardest hit area was the Country Club Plaza, which prides itself on being the country's oldest shopping center and one of the prettiest.

The Plaza sits along one side of Brush Creek, normally a trickle dividing the city east and west. The concrete-lined creek became a torrent after two six-inch rains Monday.

Water poured through underground garages and through the street level floors of some of the finest stores in the Midwest — 18 feet deep in places.

On Tuesday, elegant displays in such stores as Halls Woolf Brothers, Jack Henry's and Swansons, were little more than

THREE OTHERS DRIFT TO SHORE Hunt Pair Lost On Lake

By MIKE WYNGARDEN

Coast Guard boats and helicopters were searching Lake Michigan near Grand Beach in Berrien county this morning looking for two Beverly Shores, Ind., men who left three friends on a stranded speedboat to swim for shore. The three Michigan City teenagers who remained on the boat, which ran out of gas Sunday night, drifted ashore near Michigan City early this morning after drifting on the lake for more than 56 hours.

The three teenagers, Lester Helchel, 17; Wayne Lewis, 17; and Dennis Brockenshire, 16, all of Michigan City, were reunited with their families at the Michigan City Coast Guard station early this morning. Still reported missing are Steve Peak, 22, and Michael Down, 23, both of Beverly Shores.

One of the three youths who stayed on the boat,

Lester Helchel, told The Herald-Palladium this morning that Peak and Down jumped off the boat to swim for shore Tuesday afternoon when the five boaters sighted land for the first time since they ran out of gas Sunday night. Both men were wearing life preservers, said Helchel, who estimated they were about two miles offshore when the pair left to swim for shore. "We hadn't had any food since we left Sunday night and Steve (Peak) got cramps almost immediately when he jumped in the water," Helchel said.

Helchel said Wood tried to help Peak in the water, and both began drifting away from the boat. "We tried throwing a rope and using water skis to pedal closer, but the lake was too rough and we lost sight of them," he said. Helchel said the waves were choppy and about three to four feet high when they lost sight of the two men Tuesday afternoon. The search for the five boaters began at about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday when the Michigan City Coast Guard station received a call of a missing and overdue boat from a parent of one of the boys.

A 40-foot boat from the St. Joseph Coast Guard station joined a boat from the Michigan City Coast Guard station early this morning and two helicopters from Chicago were called in to join the search at about sunrise this morning, according to Chief William Johnson of the St. Joseph Coast Guard station. Helchel said the five boaters became stranded at about 8 p.m. Sunday when the 15-foot outboard ran out of gas, although the fuel gauge showed a full tank. The boat drifted ashore just north of Michigan City at about 3:30 this morning. Helchel said Peak, who works for the Michigan City Port Authority, had borrowed the boat from an unidentified man who docked his boat there.

Carter Aide Confesses His Tip 'Dumb Mistake'

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance today declared he is under unfair attack by innuendo and hearsay and "we're in sad shape in this country." If people believe his effectiveness has been crippled as a result.

Lance lashed out at the news media when reporters questioned him as he emerged this morning from his Georgetown home. Again, he denied any intention to resign.

Said Lance: "If you can take allegations and innuendoes and hearsay and everything else, the words of a convicted felon, and all these other things, and put them in the paper and show them on television and then say that's a fact ...

"And then, without having a chance to refute that and have my day in court, and be faced with the charge that because of that my effectiveness has been damaged and crippled, then we're in sad shape in this country."

Lance will have his day Thursday, when he will appear before the Senate Governmental Operations Committee.

Meanwhile, Lance's harshest critic on that panel, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., hotly denied allegations leveled by President Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, that the senator himself apparently made improper use of corporate aircraft and facilities. The same issue has been raised against Lance.

Powell admitted today he was just passing along a rumor about Percy and it was a "dumb mistake." He said he had called Chicago Sun-Times bureau chief Lyle Miller on Tuesday morning with a tip about Percy to "pass along just between you and me."

Powell said that at 3 a.m. today a reporter for another newspaper called him at home for comment about the Sun-Times' published account of the charge and his actions "never looked dumb."

The Chicago Sun-Times said in today's editions that Powell telephoned the newspaper's Washington office on Tuesday to offer information about Percy's use of an airplane owned by Bell & Howell, a firm the senator once headed.

But Percy told the newspaper that he never flew on a Bell & Howell plane and that as far as he knew the firm never owned one.

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, of which Percy is a member, is investigating questionable banking practices by Lance, who heads the Office of Management and Budget for President Carter. One practice the panel is investigating is Lance's personal or political use of aircraft owned by the Georgia banks he headed before taking his government post.

Powell denied he was giving the information to the newspaper to retaliate for Percy's strong criticism of Lance, saying: "That doesn't have anything to do with it. I passed it along because I thought you all would be interested."

As the Powell-Percy clash developed, the Senate committee continued hearings in the Lance affair, calling John P. Sherry regional counsel for the comptroller of the currency in Chicago and formerly an attorney.

Score Of Bombs Rock Three Cities In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A score of bombs exploded within a three-hour period in three Mexican cities early today, causing severe damage and injuring at least three persons, police said. Several other bombs were deactivated.

The bombs exploded in Mexico City; Guadalajara, the second largest city; and Oaxaca in the south.

Officials said it was the worst such occurrence in decades. Police in Oaxaca said said a pamphlet found in the center of town attributed the bombings to a terrorist group known as the "Union of the People."

Police said most of the bombs exploded in government offices, department stores or the offices of American companies. They described the devices as dynamite sticks and incendiary devices activated by timing mechanisms.

In Mexico City, three bombs exploded and four more were deactivated by experts from the police and army.

One of the bombs caused extensive damage in the white marble building housing the Federal Justice Tribunal. Another exploded at the General Motors assembly plant and the third in the headquarters of the Confederation of Chambers of Commerce.

Eleven explosions were reported in Guadalajara and at least three unexploded bombs were found there.

One explosion at a department store set off a fire which firemen were still battling this morning. Police said damage was extensive.

Police said one man was arrested after a bomb exploded in a Woolworth store in Guadalajara. They said the man was injured by the blast.

Other blasts hit the Government Palace, bank offices, the federal electric commission office and the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store.

Regional Teacher Unions Called MEA Power Play

BY TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A labor relations consultant for the school board here last night sharply disputed claims by teachers that a switch from local to regional bargaining organizations won't cost local control.

Horner Lafrinere said the purpose of the switch was to permit the Michigan Education Association to gain control of local schools.

"Teachers are not going to retain their control," he stated in appearing before a South Haven school board work session meeting.

Lafrinere charged that districts in the upper peninsula who switched to a regional-type plan now regret it.

"Their bylaws were changed to take away the local teachers' right to ratify their own agreement," he stated.

Teacher groups changing will be forced to amend their bylaws to conform with the county, state, and national education associations, Lafrinere said.

"Can you imagine a UAW local having bylaws in conflict with the national union?" he asked.

Lafrinere is a consultant with the Michigan Association of School Boards working with the South Haven school board.

The South Haven Education Association (SHEA), which represents the district teachers, is seeking an election among teachers on making the Van Buren County Education Association the bargaining agent in the South Haven system.

The SHEA has handled contract talks with the school board in the past.

The Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) has recently approved plans for the election over objections by the school board. The school board, during the work session, agreed not to contest the decision.

Three school districts in Berrien county, Buchanan, River Valley and Brandywine, are seeking to join a regional bargaining group there.

The South Haven teachers contend the switch is to improve the line of communications between teacher groups in the county.

"The stated purpose (of the switch) is a lot of baloney," Lafrinere said.

Lafrinere also claimed South Haven teachers are already being over-compensated in relation to averages for teachers in southwestern Michigan and specifically Van Buren county.

He noted that the starting pay for a teacher with a bachelor's degree in South Haven is $9,506 as compared to an area average of $9,144. The top of the bachelor's degree schedule in South Haven is $15,208 compared to an area average of $14,210 and county average of $14,333.

A teacher with a master's degree begins at $10,390 in South Haven compared to $9,931 in the region and $9,715 in the county. The top of the master's degree schedule in South Haven is $17,490 compared to $15,838 in the area and $16,092 in the county.

"Any teacher that claims he is not receiving pay equity is right; you are exceeding it," Lafrinere said.

Labor Raiding The Public Schools

The Michigan Senate is considering a bill which if enacted into law will sandbag the state's financially distressed public school districts into an even deeper hole, taking with them their resident taxpayers who foot the educational bill.

It is a proposal to line up Michigan behind new U.S. compensation standards which allow non-teaching employees to collect unemployment insurance during the traditional summer recess.

Most Expensive Not Necessarily Most Enjoyable

Annually, a Swiss management consulting firm publishes a survey of major cities in the world, listing them in order of how expensive they are to live in. This information compiled by Business International, frequently is used by international businesses which provide cost-of-living bonuses to overseas executives.

It also is a fair indicator of the relative effects of inflation in various parts of the world. Using New York as a basis for comparison, the study found living expenses in Tokyo 43 per cent higher, Stockholm 24 per cent, Oslo 22 per cent, Zurich 18 per cent, and Vienna and Geneva 15 per cent.

Of the 17 major cities with living costs higher than New York's 12 were in western Europe. Thirty-nine cities had lower costs, led off by Buenos Aires — more than 50 per cent cheaper. While London ranked well down the list in total living expenses, that city was found to have the highest rents and hotel rates. Food was most expensive in Tokyo.

Overlooked was the fact most people are better off by not living in any of those places.

Taking A New Look At The 'Delaney Clause'

The federal regulation of potential cancer-causing agents is governed by the so-called Delaney Clause — named for its sponsor, Rep. James J. Delaney (D-N.Y.) — of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. The Food and Drug Administration invoked the Clause last March when it announced its intention to ban the artificial sweetener saccharin from food and beverages sold in the United States. The Clause states, "No additive shall be deemed safe if it is found to induce cancer when ingested by man or animal."

A three-year Canadian study, upon which the FDA based its ban, had linked the calorie-free sweetener to bladder cancer in rats. The outcry from habitual saccharin users, particularly diabetics and dieters, was immediate. For them the issue was not a potential cancer hazard, but a radical change in lifestyle — the elimination of sweets. A similar outcry in Canada forced a three-month postponement of that country's ban, which is now scheduled to take effect Oct. 1.

Congress is expected to delay the U.S. ban for at least one year, pending further scientific investigation. But the question obviously will not be decided solely in a test tube. A bill that has received committee approval in the Senate would mandate a study of cancer-predicting capabilities and review the effectiveness of the Delaney Clause. While Congress ponders, scientific and public policy issues relating to the proposed ban will be discussed in another forum in Washington, D.C. — a public conference sponsored by the Society for Occupational and Environmental Health, the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, and the American Cancer Society. It opens Friday.

ONLY WE CAN UNDO WHAT'S DONE

The causes of our rebellion against the British government two centuries ago are clearly spelled out in our Declaration of Independence. It makes interesting reading. Considering the distance between the king and his colonies, some of the causes may have seemed perfectly logical and fair rules to the crown. For instance, a local law could not take effect until approved in England, and that could take a long time.

The ruling British minority felt they had the divine right and the wisdom to govern the colonies from afar. Our forefathers, with firsthand knowledge, felt they knew best and declared their independence.

There are striking similarities between then and now. Again, there is a ruling minority far away, claiming more wisdom than local people. They have blocked many local laws, erected a multitude of new offices, imposed taxes without our consent and extended an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us.

Can we really call ourselves a free people? Maybe not, but whatever we feel oppressing us, taxes or restrictive regulations of all kinds, this time we brought it upon ourselves through proper legislative channels. Our elected representatives acted on our behalf as best they knew how.

If the income tax form is too complex for you, if the environmental and energy gadgets on your new car irritate you, if the safety rules in your factory or on your farm appear ridiculous, if the anti-discrimination goals of the Civil Rights Act come full circle and discriminate against the majority, consider that I is done by us, by you and me and our neighbors.

Realize that only we can undo what has been done. We can repeal the law we made, we can dismantle the organizations we built, we can reduce the tax rates we raised, through our elected representatives. But we must tell them over and over again:

"Probably we won't repeal, dismantle or reduce, for with the local minorities and office holders who want to retain their jobs on one side and the spluttering taxpayer on the other side, the outcome is uncertain."

Most likely there will be compromises resulting in simplification in principle and added proliferation in practice.

As in the days of the Declaration, "prudence, indeed, will dictate that government long established should not be changed for light and transient causes." So we won't declare independence from the ruling minority in the capital for a while. And I hope that we never have to.

Carter Will Get The Bill

WASHINGTON — Shortly before he clinched the Democratic nomination last year, candidate Jimmy Carter paid a call upon AFL-CIO President George L. Meany, who had not been one of his conspicuous fans.

Who, Carter politely inquired, did Meany think would make a good vice president? "You," the crusty old labor leader rather curtly replied.

That story, possibly apocryphal, has gotten a lot of guilts over at the AFL-CIO headquarters. But Jimmy Carter, from his current residence a block away at the White House, has unquestionably enjoyed the last laugh.

Thanks to a marked shift in the prevailing political winds, which Carter recognized long before Meany did, organized labor now needs the President's help a good deal more than Carter needs labor's blessing.

That is why there is nothing especially surprising about Meany's decision to throw the full weight of the AFL-CIO and its lobbying apparatus behind the new Panama Canal treaties Carter is so anxious to steer through Congress.

Labor needs chits that it can cash in at a later date. The Panama Canal battle, which is bound to be a bruiser, offers a perfect opportunity for Meany and Co. to perform a service that will put the President in their debt.

It wasn't supposed to come to this, of course. Even though Meany has no great love for Carter, labor turned out its troops for the Georgian in last year's campaign.

With Democrats firmly in control of both the White House and Congress, labor expected easy sailing.

Then came the stunning House defeat of the omnibus site picketing bill. And Carter's refusal to embrace the $3 per hour minimum wage, the unions sought. And a decision by Democratic congressional leaders to abandon any effort to repeal 14-B, the right-to-work section of the Taft-Hartley Act. And the burial of candidate Carter's promise to support the full employment goals of the Humphrey-Hawkins bill under President Carter's pledge to balance the budget by fiscal 1981.

Labor, which thought it was headed for a banquet, suddenly found itself begging for table scraps.

After hard bargaining, the White House agreed to support a pared-down increase in the minimum wage, from the present $2.30 per hour to $2.65.

Carter has also agreed to back a modest revision of the basic federal labor law that will remove some of the roadblocks recalcitrant employers now use to block union organizing drives. But the labor law revision is far more restricted than the version originally pushed by the AFL-CIO.

Meany, who cannot afford to lose any more big ones on the Hill, knows White House support will be crucial for his remaining legislative proposals. He is consequently moderating his criticism of Carter.

Four months ago, Meany was grumping that he could see "nothing good" in the works of the new administration. At a recently concluded meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council, he allowed as how Carter had won some "pluses" since then. On welfare reform, energy, human rights and the problem of illegal aliens, Meany gave Carter credit for "trying," although he saw room for improvement.

The 83-year-old labor boss is prepared to give the president a hand on the Canal treaties, but you can't let him do it for purely altruistic reasons. Sooner or later, Carter is going to get a bill from George Meany.

Atheist Stirs Another Furor

WASHINGTON — Atholst Madelyn Murray O'Hair has stirred up another religious furor by suing to ban the motto "In God We Trust" from U.S. currency.

She outraged many devout citizens several years ago when she successfully convinced the Supreme Court in banish prayer from public schools on the grounds that it was an unconstitutional violation of church and state.

Now, angry churchgoers are complaining to Congress that they want to preserve what they believe to be an honored American tradition. Ironically, however, the currency motto is not really a long-established custom at all.

"In God We Trust" was not placed on all U.S. currency until 1963, after having been declared the national motto by Congress in 1856. It first appeared in 1865 on a two-cent coin but was used only spasmodically after that for nearly 100 years.

Regine, the super-hottest of the jet set, is backing away from her plan to open a lavish night club in Washington similar to ones she operates in Manhattan, Paris and Rio. The word is that she decided the city's powerful pals weren't ready for $10 drinks and late-night carousing with the idle rich.

When Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson appointed himself to the Senate seat vacated by Vice President Mondale this year, seasoned politicians warned him the voters wouldn't like it. He may be about to find out if they were right. Rep. Donald Fraser is preparing to challenge Anderson in the primary next year.

Richard Nixon still quietly sees a select handful of longtime supporters. Three recent visitors were Victor Lasky, who wrote "It Didn't Start With Watergate," a chronicle of Democratic scandals; Nick Rowe, a former Nixon advance man and State Department protocol official whose wife Nancy was Betty Ford's social secretary; and Pat Hillings, a California lawyer, former congressman and active Nixon booster.

Former President Gerald Ford continues to be the most active retired president of modern times. He's scheduled speeches at 11 colleges and universities in the next three months, in his role as a distinguished fellow of the American Enterprise Institute.

Reports that President Carter's tax reform will include a dollar ceiling on the deductibility of an expense account business lunch are greeted here with widespread cynicism. Such a move would put half the city's restaurants out of business and handicap the way lobbyists, lawyers, journalists and consultants operate. Over their expense account lunches, all the movers and shakers are predicting it will never get out of Congress.

Irish Coach Urges Big United Way Harvest

BY JOE HERMAN

Staff Writer

Calling the next six weeks the "harvest season" for the Blossomland United Way (BUW) campaign, Richard "Digger" Phelps, head basketball coach at University of Notre Dame, urged campaign volunteers to "go out and make this year's goal happen."

Phelps was the featured speaker at last night's BUW kickoff banquet in the student union at Lake Michigan college. Phelps told the more than 400 people at the banquet that the 1977 goal of $830,000 should not be a tough goal to reach.

"After reaching last year's goal of $775,000, it should only take a few more calls, and turning a few more 'no' answers into 'yes' answers," Phelps said.

"My season (basketball) is not for another two months. This is your season in southwestern Michigan, the season to harvest your goals."

James F. Murphy, Inter-City bank president and BUW 1977 general campaign chairman, told the audience that this year's "harvest" is already near 25 per cent of the goal. Murphy announced that, as of last night, $202,485 had been pledged for the 36th annual campaign.

Funds raised in the campaign will go for the support of local, state and national agencies.

"The first pledges are the easiest," Murphy said, "coming from the big campaigns and corporations. The rest of the way will require a lot of dedicated effort."

Phelps compared the BUW campaign to the team effort required in basketball. "Everyone has a part to play," he said. "Even the substitutes in a game help put things into place, and help make sure the little things get done."

Through much of his talk, Phelps commented on lessons he has learned as head coach of the Fighting Irish basketball team. Noting the careers of several of his former basketball players, he said that losing is an important part of life.

"You can't go through life undefeated," Phelps commented. "You can never learn to be really happy if you have never been sad, or suffered a setback."

Phelps also spoke of the "hardship" policy of the NCAA which has allowed three of his top players in recent years to enter professional basketball before graduating from college. He said that every athlete should have the right to enter professional sports at any point. Phelps noted most baseball players sign contracts right out of high school.

"It's not like being a doctor or lawyer where you have 20 or 30 years to make a career. In sports your time is limited," he added.

BH Policeman Wins $12,000 Study Grant

Benton Harbor Patrolman Galen R. Anderson has received a $12,000 grant to attend a nine-month Northwestern University Traffic Institute program at Evanston, Ill. Police Chief Andrew Rodez said Anderson was among 77 people selected from among 322 applicants for the institute's traffic police administration training program. He called the program "one of the most comprehensive administrative programs available."

Rodez said Anderson is the second Benton Harbor officer selected for the program within the past two years. Rodez called it "an extraordinary accomplishment for a small urban police department and something the entire community can take pride in."

Sgt. Philipp Schneider was selected in 1975.

Rodez said the grant is provided under the federal Highway Safety Act and is administered in Michigan by the State Department of Highway and Transportation's highway safety program. Rodez said the grant provides living accommodations for the student and his family. It also covers salary, while on leave, Rodez said.

Anderson is joined at Evanston by his wife, Selene, Rodez said. He said the course began last week.

Anderson, 28, was selected on the basis of extent of crime and traffic problems in the city, managerial and training needs of the department, and potential, Rodez said.

Anderson joined the Benton Harbor police department Jan. 29, 1973. He is a 1967 graduate of Benton Harbor high school.

The traffic institute was founded in 1936, Rodez said, adding that 1,946 police officers from all 50 states and 34 foreign countries have been graduated. Rodez was graduated from the program in 1971.

Halloween Party Gets Sodus Aid

SODUS — The Sodus township board voted last night to support a volunteer group of Sodus area mothers in their plans to hold a Halloween party Oct. 31 at the township fire station.

The board voted to financially support the effort, but no amount was set by the board, according to Clerk Virginia Palis. The move came after a request from two of the women, Linda Alright and Mrs. Stephen Hudzinski. The board told the two that they must also get permission from the township firemen.

It would be the first organized Halloween party in Sodus, Mrs. Palis said. The women told the board the party was in the planning stages at the present time.

In other action, the board instructed Mrs. Palis to write a letter to the Berrien county road commission asking that it authorize the removal of two dead trees on Pipestone road. Also the letter was to request the road commission look into the possible need for gravel on McWay road. Mrs. Palis said several residents have requested the road be gravelled.

BH Man Guilty In Van Buren

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Van Buren Circuit court jury, convicted a Benton Harbor man last night on a charge of bank larceny growing out of an attempted holdup at the Sister Lake branch of the Van Buren State bank in 1975.

Artie Truman Fisher, 28, remained free on $10,000 bond pending sentencing to a possible maximum prison term of up to life.

A second suspect in the case, George Freeman Jr., 21, Covert, is still awaiting circuit court trial on the same charge.

Jurors in Judge Meyer Warshawsky's court began deliberations about 3:30 p.m. and returned with the guilty verdict about 8 p.m.

Police said two men wearing ski masks entered the bank on Oct. 28, 1975, and handed a teller, Mrs. Harlan Gifford, a note demanding money. Officers said the pair fled without the money after Mrs. Gifford told them a bank camera was taking their pictures. The two did not display any weapons and no one was hurt, police reported.

Attorneys in the week-long trial were Joseph Milauckas Jr., assistant Van Buren prosecutor, and Robert McDowell, St. Joseph.

BH-SJ Federation To Begin Club Year

Mrs. Lloyd Zoschke will show her collection of dolls and speak on the topic, "Dolls — Nostalgic Moments," at the opening meeting of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph Federation of Women's Clubs, Monday, Sept. 19.

The meeting will open with dessert at 1:30 p.m., followed by the program at 2 p.m. at the Morton House, Benton Harbor.

Although not a collector, Mrs. Zoschke has a number of antique dolls in their original costumes, which belonged to her as a child. The dolls were given to her as Christmas presents. Also included will be antique china dolls that belong to her and members of her family.

The first part of the program will recall a typical Christmas in her childhood home in Suffield, Conn., and the experience of accompanying her father "Mr. Fred," on his annual pilgrimage to bring home the family Christmas tree. Her story centers around her favorite doll, Eleanor, a 22-inch bisque doll made in Germany in 1908.

Mrs. Zoschke invites members of the audience to participate in the program by bringing their favorite doll to the meeting. "This is what makes the program more interesting," Mrs. Zoschke says.

Mrs. Zoschke has lived in Berrien county since her marriage in 1921. Her husband was the late Rev. Lloyd Zoschke, former pastor of the Eau Claire Church of Christ.

She is a member of the Eau Claire Women's Study Club, Antiquarian society of Old St. Joseph-on-the-Lake, and chairman for religion for the Berrien County Federation of Women's Clubs. She is an active church

She is the author of two books, "Mr. Fred," published in 1968 and "Life Began at 60."

All women of the community are invited to attend the meeting to be hosted by Osoli, Emblem club and The Squaws.

Mrs. Marjorie Stamm, chief physical therapist at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, will be speaker at the meeting of the Arthritis Volunteer Action Council (AVAC), local chapter of the Michigan Arthritis Foundation.

The first in the fall series of lectures on the subject of arthritis, sponsored by the local council, will be held Thursday, Sept. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Forum of Memorial hospital. The public is invited.

Mrs. Stamm returned last week from a physical therapist conference at Indianapolis, Ind., sponsored by the American Physical Therapists association.

"It is expected Mrs. Stamm will present some new approaches to the treatment of arthritis, especially through the media of physical therapy," said Mrs. Leonard Steink, Benton Harbor, unit chairman of the local council.

Mrs. Stamm has been employed at Memorial hospital for the past 25 years. She received her bachelor of science degree in physical therapy at the University of Wisconsin. Mrs. Stamm has served on numerous committees and has held state and national offices in the American Physical Therapy association, serving as president from 1971 to 1973.

She has served as chairman of the house of delegates for the Eastern Seal society of Michigan, is a board member of the western region of the Michigan chapter of the Arthritis Foundation and is a charter member of Berrien county Volunteer Action unit of the local chapter.

native tongue, became sole owner at his brother's death a few years after the store opened.

Wong lives in a house next door, the only one of the three grocers who still lives near his store. He and his wife, Kay, have four sons, one a university graduate and computer programmer with a bank and a second studying business administration at Arizona State. Two other boys are in high school.

He, too, doubts that the store will be passed on to his sons.

Probably Last Generation For Family Chinese Store

By LES SCHLANGER
Associated Press Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — King Fung, a 43-year-old Chinese, was born in the rear living quarters of the small grocery store he and his family run in a southwest Phoenix ghetto peopled mostly by blacks and Mexican-Americans.

He grew up there, before the neighborhood took on the racial and economic walls of the ghetto.

Today it's a high crime area where policemen travel in pairs and the door of the grocery is always bolted. Business — and it's good — is conducted at an outside window, just like a bank branch.

A slim, energetic man, Fung smiles as he talks about his family and his life as a grocer. In keeping with his prosperity, the family home was transplanted years ago to a comfortable north Phoenix neighborhood.

"Most of these people (his customers) are my friends and we've never been held up," said Fung.

The bolt on the door, he acknowledges, is there to discourage the would-be bandit and to shut out the shoplifter entirely.

Fung's wife, June, 42, dark-eyed and vivacious, serves customers at the window, trading off this duty with Frankie Eliger, 23, a black who has worked there since boyhood.

Son Kenny, 19, a junior in accounting at Arizona State university, and daughter, Kathy, 21, have also worked in the store. Kenny plans to switch to medicine at Baylor in the fall and Kathy, a Phoenix college graduate, wants to major in political science at Rice university in Houston.

There are about 70 small Chinese grocery stores in the metropolitan Phoenix area, embracing five suburban cities, and even more in Tucson, says Francis Wong, a prosperous Chinese storekeeper and vice president of the Associated Grocers.

"They've survived because it was a family affair with sons and daughters to work in the store and living quarters upstairs or in the rear," said Wong.

"This is probably the last generation of the family Chinese store, though, because the new generation is going on to college and turning to the professions," he said somewhat sadly.

Wong says the Chinese grocer appeared in Arizona in the 1880s. Many, like Fung's father, had worked as dish washers or laundry workers or turned their hand to other manual tasks to save the money needed to start their own business.

John Yee, 49, owns a market in a neighborhood programmed for future annexation by the spreading state capitol grounds. It, too, is a neighborhood mostly occupied by blacks and Mexican-Americans who keep Yee's store doing a brisk business. No bolted doors here, except at night.

Yee's father, Henry, born in China, came to Phoenix with his family and bought the small store in 1948. Yee took it over a few years later when his father died. He has three sons, one an electrical engineer with the Salt River Project, another who is a sophomore at Arizona State, and a third in high school.

Yee feels there will always be a place for the neighborhood grocer, but that his generation may be the last of the small Chinese operators.

"The kids all want to do something different now," said Yee.

Only three blocks away, Jim Wong, 56, a native of China, has a thriving market which draws from the same trade as Yee's.

His brother opened the store in 1947 and Wong, who still feels more at ease speaking his

LEARN TO LOSE AND CONTROL YOUR WEIGHT WEIGHT LOSERS... EASY EATING '78'

BACK TO BASICS...The WEIGHT LOSERS fall program at the Y.W.C.A. is structured to give new information on how to eat "formerly forbidden foods" to students presently working with the food program and to teach new students how to eat nutritiously and not starve while losing excess pounds. The basic principle of Weight Losers International is the simple statement that "learning is the key to change."

With motivation and instruction, anyone who takes their weight and weight loss seriously can be thinner, healthier and stay that way. As the student attends each series of 12 classes, he will build a more solid foundation for a better life. As the training time (discipline) increases, he will learn to eat all foods...even learning how to manage the troublesome ones.

Some of the topics in the course includes: The Thin Gourmet Technique, Goals, Food Hang-up Problems, Commitment, Finding Time, Choices, Food Helpers, Planning, Self-help Analysis, Controlled Trades...Keys 1,2,3, Handling Emotions that hinder...and many more. Class time is 1 to 1 1/2 hours allowing time for individual needs. Weight loss is optional...a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 25 students per class.

Everyone having a need for help in this area of overweight is welcome including those who are fasting and who will need a "refeeding" program or those who are on special diets given by their physicians. Successful and permanent weight control is not a game of chance. Permanent weight control calls for a blueprint to success. A good blueprint requires in-depth planning. In-depth planning requires knowledge.

Knowledge is gained through your interest, enthusiasm and regular class attendance. Think of it...a lifetime of successful and permanent weight control. Classes begin September 20 and end December 6, each Tuesday. Choose the time best for you...9:30 A.M. 1:00 or 7:00 P.M. Register today! Phone Madeline Kimball 923-1850 between 8 & 10 A.M. or 4 & 8 P.M. Fee of $4.50 for new students and $6.00 for continuing students.

'BAKED UNDER CRUST'Fruit Combo Fillings*GEMINI PIE

Fresh fruit pies are an American claim to culinary fame. Innovative American cooks are always doing one better on the favorite "fruit baked under crust" routine.

Gemini Pie and Orchard Fresh Pie, for example, are not ordinary fruit pies. For one thing, the fillings are a combination of two favorite fruits — juicy sweet peaches with nectarines and tart and tangy plums in combination with Bartlett pears — spiced with a nutmeg and spiced with sour cream. And the wonderful concoctions bake to a beautiful golden brown under a flaky, tender crust.

GEMINI PIE

Pastry for two crust, nine-inch pie, or one package (11-ounce) pie crust mix.

Three cups peeled and sliced fresh peaches (about one pound).

Three cups sliced fresh nectarines (about one pound).

One-half cup sugar.

Three tablespoons cornstarch.

One-half cup butter.

One-half cup dairy sour cream.

One egg, beaten.

Roll out half of pastry; use to line bottom of nine-inch pie plate. Put peaches and nectarines in large bowl. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, nutmeg and sour cream in small bowl. Pour over fruit; mix gently. Pour into prepared pie plate. Roll out remaining pastry and make a lattice top. Brush pastry with beaten egg. Bake in 425 degree oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 45 to 50 minutes longer. Cool. Makes six to eight servings.

ORCHARD FRESH PIE

Pastry for two crust, nine-inch pie, or one package (11-ounce) pie crust mix.

Three cups halved fresh plums (about two pounds).

Three cups peeled and sliced fresh Bartlett pears (about two pounds).

Three-fourths to one cup sugar.

Three tablespoons cornstarch.

One-half cup butter.

One-half cup dairy sour cream.

One egg, beaten.

Roll out half of pastry; use to line bottom of nine-inch pie plate. Put plums and pears in large bowl. Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, nutmeg and sour cream in small bowl. Pour over fruit; mix gently. Pour into prepared pie plate. Roll out remaining pastry and make a lattice top. Brush pastry with beaten egg. Bake in 425 degree oven 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 45 to 50 minutes longer. Cool. Makes six to eight servings.

This sensational cheesecake has been inspired by the one-famous New York restaurant — Lindy's. Night after night, Broadway's popular performers would line up for a slice of rich Lindy cheesecake. The restaurant is gone now, but the main attraction has stayed and been improved upon.

Three-fourths cup flour

One-fourth cup sugar

One teaspoon grated lemon peel

One-half teaspoon vanilla

Bring to light; then cook gently until plums are tender but still hold their shape, about 10 minutes. Stir a little water into cornstarch; then stir into plum mixture. Cook a few minutes more, until clear and thickened. Cool.

To serve, arrange a few plum quarters from Plum Sauce Glaze in center of cake. Pass remaining sauce to spoon onto each serving of cake. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

Jewish Tables Are FestiveHigh Holy Days

The festival of Rosh Hashanah began at sundown Sept. 12 this year.

Jews around the world will be observing the High Holy Days for a 10-day period beginning with Rosh Hashanah and ending with Yom Kippur on Sept. 22. This solemn religious season is a time for penitence and prayer.

Although serious, the High Holy Days are not filled with sadness. In fact, after the evening service at the synagogue, Jewish tables are festive and special foods are the order of the day.

Suggested is a kugel recipe to enhance holiday menus. Kugel, a traditional element in Jewish cuisine, resembles a hot pudding and can be made with noodles or bread.

In a large bowl, blend bread cubes and water. Add the egg yolks, flour, raisins, sugar and cooled cabbage. Mix thoroughly. Beat the egg whites until they hold a soft peak and fold into the cabbage mixture.

Pour into an oiled one and one-half-quart casserole. Set casserole in a pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 45 minutes, or until a knife comes out clean when inserted into center.

‘Your Problems’ By Ann Landers

He Never Dated Girls, And...

Dear Ann: I am a father, 44 years of age (divorced), and have four children. My three daughters are wonderful — each one is a joy — but my son is a problem.

Yesterday when I was in my bedroom reading I heard him and his closest friend talking and laughing. Suddenly it became clear that they were discussing their love for one another. I couldn't believe it. I understand why my son has never dated girls and why he and this young man spend so much time together.

I am completely bewildered and there is no one I can talk to. The boy is a college sophomore, has good grades, seems well-adjusted and normal in every way. He is not depressed.

nor does he show any of the outward signs of homosexuality. Would therapy help? What should I do? — Beside Myself

Dear Beside: Until the boy comes to you for help (and this may never happen) there is nothing you should do. Therapy is useless unless a person feels the need for it.

If you are "Beside Yourself," I suggest that you get some counseling so you can learn how to accept your son as he is. From your letter I get the impression the boy is perfectly content with his life as it is.

Judge Not

Dear Ann: Occasionally you run something of value,

I have never sat on a bus, at a dinner party, by the pool, or in a doctor's office in my entire life that I didn't find myself next to the parent of a college overachiever.

You know the ones I mean. The parents whose son or daughter was the recipient of a four-year, all-expense-paid scholarship to one of the Big Ten schools that is recognizable by a single letter on a T-shirt.

The kid who turned down 12 other schools because they didn't offer Conversational Arabic, didn't graduate one Secretary of State, and discriminated against accepting 13-year-olds in the Freshman class.

I have the kid who, sometimes during the last two weeks of August, rolls out of bed and announces, "Hey, college starts in another two or three weeks, I'd better get it on."

After polite, but firm refusals from Harvard, Yale, Duke and Dartmouth, they work their way across the country — Ohio State, Missouri, Colorado, Tulane and San Diego.

As the time gets shorter, catalogs from a school in Hawaii, Under "Location Of Campus," were explicit directions for jumping from a boat in a cove vest and swimming ashore with your luggage.

"The trouble with you," I told my son, "is that you didn't plan ahead. You knew you were going to graduate at least three hours before they awarded the diplomas. You should have."

"Don't worry, Mom. I have found a college. It's accredited, has absolutely no standards whatsoever, and is small enough to give individual attention."

"When do classes begin?"

"Whenever I get there."

"Is it in the free world?"

"Let me just say that it accepts five major credit cards. I don't mind wearing a T-shirt with a big D on it, but I feel like a fool driving around with a bumper sticker reading, 'SEND DOG DAD TO THE ROSE BOWL!'"

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — After the birth of my first child my hair fell out. It didn't last long. Three months after my second child it fell out in bunches. This lasted almost a year and a half. When I had my third child it grew faster and thicker. However, right after he was born the same thing happened again. What can be done? I just cannot figure out why when I am pregnant it grows so fast and afterward it thins. I am a doctor.

DEAR READER — Many women share your concern. Your hair has a growth cycle from two to six years for each hair. At any one time some of the hair follicles will be resting, not producing a shaft of hair. These follicles are not dead; only sleeping. Normally this represents about 20% per cent of your hair follicles.

During pregnancy a larger percentage of the hair follicles are active. This causes more of them to reach the resting phase of the cycle at the same time after pregnancy and the hair gets thin. So, the thicker your hair the thinner it is apt to be for a while after your pregnancy.

Because the hair has a variable life cycle from two to six years the length of time it takes to get back to a normal ratio of 20 per cent resting and 80 per cent active explains why you have had differences between your first pregnancy and your subsequent pregnancies.

Never fear. This is not a sign of impending baldness and there is no medicine you should take for it. It is self-correcting.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Last year I got what the doctor told me was eczema. I'm in my early 50s. I had patches of red on my elbows and knees. The doctor gave me a shot and some pills and said, "Now I have it again. Should I go back to the doctor or just get my pills refilled? Will I always get it now? Do nerves have anything to do with it because sometimes it does itch."

DEAR READER — Eczema is a frustration for the patient and the doctor. The first problem is to be certain of the diagnosis. The second is to treat it even if you have the right diagnosis.

No one knows what really causes eczema. It doesn't seem to be an infection and it isn't even a good allergic response. Nervous or emotional factors do seem to be important but a

Celebrate Michigan Harvest

Go out this weekend, and celebrate Michigan's harvest, says Carl Olson of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"Take the family down to your local farmer's market and be overwhelmed by the smells, colors and downright fun of all those fruits and vegetables brought in fresh from the fields for your table."

"It was only a year ago I wrote of going to the market and buying much more than I could ever use. It is a habit I have yet to break. After all, I can always use a little more lettuce, another bunch of carrots, and why not get six ears of corn instead of a more realistic four for the two of us."

"My wife puts up a valiant struggle against my overbuying, but I just can't resist. Actually I'd be much better off if I stayed home just getting things ready in the kitchen, but that trip to the market is 'an offer I can't refuse,' Olson said.

"This month we're nearing the end of most of the berry fruits but fresh pears and juicy plums are in their prime."

Now is the time of the year to try a recipe for Stuffed Pears. Peel, core and halve four firm pears. Mix together and stuff into the hollows one-fourth cup raisins, two tablespoons each of chopped walnuts and sugar and one tablespoon lemon juice. Place the stuffed pears in a baking dish with two tablespoons of water and then pour one-half cup light corn syrup over them.

Cover and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for one and one-half hours.

Olson said, "We like to baste them during cooking with a little pineapple juice and brown sugar, but we've also just dusted them with cinnamon and broiled them lightly before serving."

According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Michigan's main pear variety is the Bartlett. They work great in this recipe when still firm.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald Jacoby was playing rubber bridge in Indianapolis back in 1934. Before the game started there had been a discussion of four-nutrum conventions. Jacoby said that he had tried the Culbertson one and found it most unsatisfactory.

Indianapolis hosts told him that a young Hoosier insurance man named Easley Blackwood had invented a convention that they all played. Jacoby felt that he really didn't need any conventions to bid slams. He was told how simple the Blackwood convention was. Four nutrum asked for aces. Responder replied to show how many he had and that was that. He was also told that Easley Blackwood was going to be a kibitzer that night.

Cass To Probe 'Problems' In Medical Center

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass county board of commissioners Tuesday scheduled several meetings to review reported problems in the construction of the new county medical care center here.

A meeting was set for Thursday for county officials, the contractors and architects to review the problems.

The board indicated it would delve into the problems in detail at its Sept. 22 meeting.

Board action came after Commissioner Steve Toth of Edwardsburg told the board "inspectors have found some problems" at the $2.3 million medical care building that was to have been completed in July.

Commissioner Johnnie Rodebush of Niles said that one problem is a leak in one of the ponds of the facility's sewer lagoon system. He said the building should not be opened until this and "other problems" are corrected.

Construction on the 76-bed facility for the aged and infirm started in May, 1976, after voters in 1974 approved a $2,576,000 bond issue to pay for its construction. It is to replace a 60-bed building built in 1932 but ordered remodeled or shut down by the state.

In other areas yesterday, the county board gave courthouse employees a 7.6 per cent cost-of-living pay increase effective Sept. 20.

Board Chairman Herman Sultz, in referring to the raise, said "...the budget will be in the black and our employees are deserving of a raise. We want to be as fair as we can and stop the people from leaving the county for a better-paying county. We are appreciative of a fine job of our county employees."

The board also appointed Commissioners Robert Hartrant, of Union, Donald Marlin of Niles and Mrs. Genevieve Toothaker and Dean Bussler, both of Dowagiac, as a committee to adopt a personnel policy for employees and to establish a merit pay board. Hartrant is the chairman of the committee.

The board took the first step in setting up an economic development corporation for the county.

In a public hearing, the board approved the application for such a corporation submitted by Foster Daugherty of Cassopolis and J.M. Herremans and George Dubrich, both of Edwardsburg.

Purpose of the corporation would be to make the county eligible for state grants to help lure industry to the county.

The board also adopted a resolution permitting Sultz to join Van Buren and Cass counties in a joint effort to secure funds for establishing a two-county juvenile detention-treatment center.

A $3,800 appropriation from the 1978 budget was approved for the tri-county Human Resources commission. Along with funds from Berrien and Van Buren counties and matching state or federal funds, the Human Resources commission will have a budget of $27,000 for services to senior citizens for home health aides, minor home repairs and health screening programs.

ENTERTAINMENT AT FOP BALL: Country and western band Charley Mott and the Jokers are scheduled to entertain at annual Fraternal Order of Police benefit ball Saturday, Sept. 24, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph. Ball is sponsored by FOP Blossomland Lodge 100 headquartered on the St. Joseph river, Sodus township. Membership is mainly from Benton Harbor and Benton township police departments. Other departments also are represented. (C.C. Brooks photo)

Crime Panel Will Meet In Lawrence

The advisory crime commission to the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission has announced it will meet Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 10 a.m. at the Van Buren county skills center in Lawrence. Agenda items include bylaw recommendations, the fiscal year 1978 budget, and project presentations. The advisory group oversees criminal justice grants in the counties of Berrien, Van Buren and Cass.

Berrien Democrats To Hear Candidate

State Sen. Patrick H. McCollough (D-Wayne county), a candidate for governor in 1978, will appear Thursday at the regular monthly meeting of the Berrien county Democratic party. Chairman James Keller said the meeting will be at 8 p.m. in Wosaw township hall, New Troy. It is open to the public to hear and question McCollough.

McCollough is chairman of the Senate Finance committee, and recently gained attention as one of the few Democrats who wanted to let the state income tax drop to a lower rate as previously promised by the Legislature.

McCollough sponsored Michigan's Crime Victims Compensation act which allows the state to compensate some victims of violent crime. He also was a sponsor of the Clean Water act and Voter Registration act of 1975 which made it possible for people to register to vote when renewing their drivers' license.

Bangor Township Firm Over Breach Of Peace

BANGOR — The Bangor township board last night stood behind its controversial breach of peace ordinance despite objections from several residents and one board member.

The ordinance, adopted last month and which will go into effect Sept. 20, prohibits noise, disturbances, trouble or improper diversions which "disturb the peace" of township residents.

One resident last night, Mrs. Joan Walker, Van Auker lake, called the ordinance, "A frivolous, irresponsible piece of legislation."

A motion by Treasurer Ilene Nutting to reconsider the ordinance died for lack of a second. She said the ordinance should be reconsidered because of a lack of "responsible investigation," prior to its adoption.

The board unanimously approved the ordinance last month with Mrs. Nutting absent from the meeting.

The ordinance was originally turned down in June by the board after it was offered by an attorney, Douglas Mackinder, a township resident in the Van Auker lake area. He rewrote the ordinance after board members termed it vague and presented it again at the August board meeting. He also presented the board with a petition favoring the ordinance signed by 201 residents.

Mackinder's proposal had come in the wake of a series of complaints filed with the township board over noise and activities, such as motorcycle riding, near the lake and elsewhere in the township.

Mackinder at that time also offered his services free of charge to assist in prosecuting violators.

That offer prompted another motion last night from Mrs. Nutting that the board refuse the offer of the free legal help. That motion was defeated 3 to 2 with Mrs. Nutting and Jay Enning voting in favor and Supervisor Glenn Hessey, Roger Thomas and Alfred Wood voting against. Some 14 residents attended last night's meeting, several of whom raised objections to the ordinance.

In other action, the board allocated $8,938 in federal revenue sharing funds to three different projects. The board will put $8,153 into the township road fund; $600 will go to the Bangor Community Recreation center; and $185 will be donated to the Van Buren county Transportation Task Force.

Four Abducted

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Four men and a boy were kidnaped Tuesday in two small towns near Mexico City, and the wife of one of the men was killed by his abductors, police reported.

The police chief in one of the towns said the kidnappings might have been "unrelated events undertaken by common criminals." But he said the police "had reason to suspect" they were the work of the Sept. 23rd Communist League, a terrorist group.

School Boards Can't Put Limit On Topics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Boards of Education cannot limit the subjects that may be discussed by students and employees during meetings, the state attorney general said Tuesday.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley also said the boards cannot deny a representative of a group of board employees the right to address the board.

Subjects to be discussed must, however, relate to business that is within the board's jurisdiction, he said.

"Apart from this limitation, a public body may not prohibit a person from addressing the meeting because the person represents a particular organization," he said.

Kelley issued the opinion in response to a request by Rep.

Mark Clodfelter, D-Flint.

Everybody is allowed to speak up at public meetings under the state's open meetings law, which took effect March 31.

A public body can "reasonably control" the freedom to speak by imposing time limits, Kelley said last March. Also, it can require the person to identify himself and give advance notice he wishes to speak.

CARTER'S CONCEPT HAS MANY 'IFS' Welfare Plan Brilliant Or Boondoggle?

By JONATHAN WOLMAN and EVANS WITT Associated Press Writers

WASHINGTON (AP) — To hear the President tell it, Carter-style welfare reform is a many-splendored thing. It will fight poverty, create jobs for poor people, help keep families intact and eventually cut the taxpayers' cost of public assistance.

Or will it?

A close look at the President's welfare package reveals important strengths, along with serious weaknesses that threaten its chances for passage and success.

Consider:

—The $30.7 billion price tag is based on a block of 15 assumptions and questionable bookkeeping decisions. The eventual cost of welfare reform could be billions more than Carter's estimate.

—While the plan may be expensive, the rewards could be considerable. With jobs, cash and tax benefits, the plan would guarantee an income above the official poverty level for every American family whose breadwinner is willing to work and can find a job.

—The plan would require recipients to work and would create public service jobs — with paychecks as incentives to keep them. But the program provides no new help to move this new welfare work force into private sector jobs, a move that is critical to reducing the number of persons who rely on welfare. —Because the public service jobs would pay only the minimum wage or slightly more, the entire welfare work force — even those who work 40 hours a week — would remain partly dependent on welfare benefits. And the low wages have prompted strong opposition from labor unions.

—The plan would eliminate financial incentives for poor one," argues Sar Levitan, an influential manpower expert from George Washington University. "It will improve the lot of the working poor. It will establish a system where work pays more than welfare. And it relies on the government to create jobs for people who have never had the tools to find work."

The key elements of what Carter has called "My Program produce income 16 per cent above the poverty level in 1981, the first year Carter's program would be in full effect.

Though Carter says he is "scrapping the whole system," the guts of his proposal is mostly a consolidation of current programs — Aid to Families with Dependent Children — AFDC — Supplementary Security Income — SSI — for the aged and disabled, and food stamps.

Carter calls for federal administration of the system that has largely been the province of state and county governments.

The newest element, and probably also the weakest, is the public works job program. While state welfare plans have required recipients to work for their benefits, those plans have largely failed in the past because jobs were not available.

The Carter plan would cure that by creating 1.4 million public service jobs paid for from the federal treasury and run mainly by local governments. The jobs would pay only the minimum wage, or close to it, ensuring that jobholders remain partly dependent on welfare.

Labor unions are concerned. They fear the new army of low-paid workers will depress wage increases and threaten job security. "It's unacceptable, totally," says Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says he's convinced the program can be made to work, although he concedes it will take vigorous policing to prevent local officials from using the welfare work force to do jobs belonging to regular government employees.

One provision affecting the working poor would put more money in their pockets by expanding the earned income tax credit — in effect, giving them tax rebates or tax cuts.

When the skeleton of Carter's proposal was released in August, he put the added cost at $2.8 billion. But that is probably a rock-bottom estimate; the program also calls for $3.4 billion in tax credits for families earning up to $15,000 per year, includes $1.3 billion in receipts from a proposed tax on domestic oil and gas, and assumes $400 million in fraud and errors will be rooted out from related programs and spent on welfare. Counting all those, the total added cost of the Carter program would be nearly $8 billion yearly.

Even that may be optimistic, since the estimated number of welfare recipients is based on an assumption that the economy will continue to improve and that unemployment will decline from 7.1 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

"A couple of points change in the unemployment rate really has a big kick," says Mike Barth, deputy assistant secretary at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

First In Three-Part Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Jimmy Carter was campaigning for presidency, he said the federal welfare system was in desperate need of reform. In a recent message to Congress, the President announced his proposed revisions. A team of Associated Press reporters has examined the Carter plan — talking to dozens of experts and recipients. The following is the first of a three-part series on welfare reform.

fathers to abandon their families. But experts say this won't be enough to overcome the family breakup problem.

These are the main findings of Associated Press reporters who studied Carter's plan, discussing it with dozens of welfare and manpower experts, in and out of government.

Hearings are to begin in Congress this month after the administration formally submits its proposal.

On Capitol Hill, it will live, or it will die.

President Nixon proposed a welfare reform package known as the Family Assistance Plan, but it ran into a congressional crossfire between liberals and conservatives, and in 1970 chairman Russell Long bottled it up in the Senate Finance Committee.

Long, who still chairs the committee, has said of the Carter plan, "We have the right to be skeptical about cost estimates associated with large new programs." The Louisiana Democrat wants Carter to test his program regionally, and he is offering a less costly and less generous interim plan to overcome current problems.

Despite the potential problems with Carter's plan, many antipoverty experts urge that it be given a chance — especially in light of the lodge-pole of current welfare and benefit programs.

"The Carter plan is a good for Better Jobs and Income," are increased cash benefits and creation of 1.4 million low-wage public service jobs for adults who head families.

If the program is adopted in the form Carter has proposed, it will guarantee to poor families a yearly income — $4,200 for the family of four. Single adults could receive up to $1,100.

Income benefits would go not only to those who currently receive welfare, such as fatherless families and the aged and the destitute disabled, but also in the working poor who hold jobs and are not paid enough to lift them above the poverty level.

"For many, work is simply not an escape," says Levitan. "More than a million family breadwinners are now working for less than the minimum wage ($4.75 this year)." The poverty level for a family of four is about $5,600.

A 10-year University of Michigan study of 5,000 American families concludes that more than half of those with incomes below the poverty line worked at least part of the year.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says the strength of the Carter plan is that it will lift out of poverty these working poor and millions more who are unemployed and who would take jobs if available.

He says the combination of minimum-wage public service jobs and cash benefits will

MAYOR'S OPPONENT: Detroit councilman Ernest Brown and wife Evelyn greet supporters in Detroit Tuesday night when results showed that the councilman will face incumbent Coleman A. Young in November voting for Detroit mayor's post. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Blacks Squaring Off For Detroit Mayor's Post

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Two black candidates will square off for the first time in Detroit history when incumbent Coleman A. Young faces challenger Ernest Brown in November in the race for mayor of the nation's sixth largest city.

Browne, a 51-year-old career city employee, drew strong support in the Motor City's white community to finish second to Young in Tuesday's non-partisan primary election. The two black men outdistanced two major white challengers to finish 1-2 among 11 candidates.

With 1,182 of 1,222 precincts reporting, or about 96 per cent, Young led Brown, 157,341 to 61,191. Thomas Dailey, a suburban contractor who moved into the city specifically to enter the mayor's race, had 33,188. John Mogg, a Wayne State University law professor, was fourth with 22,037.

Browne, a two-term city councilman, had the backing of the predominantly white police officers and firefighters associations. He ran strong in Detroit's white areas while Young gathered the bulk of his support from the city's black precincts. Detroit, the nation's sixth largest city, has about 1.33 million residents, 55 per cent of them black. The voter split, however, is about 50-50.

"We know the people of Detroit were interested in qualifications for office, sincerely and not in color, and we have been vindicated," Brown said.

Young, 59, whose $300,000 primary campaign concentrated on his ability to secure federal money and make tough decisions, pointed to his margin of victory and said Brown was "still playing catch-up."

"We have just begun," he told cheering supporters.

Early in the vote-counting when it became apparent Young and Brown would emerge as qualifiers in the Nov. 8 non-partisan runoff.

"I think there is a perception among white voters that the only person that can beat Coleman is another black candidate," said Dailey, 45. Dailey said he would not immediately throw his support to Brown but added that he could not back Young.

Mogg, meanwhile, falling in his second bid for the mayor's job, said he would be "very happy" to support Brown.

Young's capture of between 40 and 50 per cent of the vote was lower than the mayor's people had been hoping for, local analysts said. They predicted a close race for November, saying Mogg and Dailey backers most likely would switch to Brown.

Browne spent some $200,000 in his campaign, contending that Young had concentrated on downtown development at the expense of deteriorating neighborhoods.

City officials had predicted a near-record primary voter turnout.

Poll Knocks Celibacy Rule

DETROIT (AP) — Celibacy should be optional for Roman Catholic priests, say two-thirds of the Michigan priests responding to a recent poll. About the same number say married men should be allowed to be ordained, and a slightly lower number, 8 out of 10, say they favor allowing priests who have resigned to marry to return to their ministries. Only 40 per cent say they approve of ordaining women.

The poll was released this week by CORPUS, a national organization of former Catholic priests who have married and believe they should be allowed to return to their ministries. CORPUS in June sent questionnaires to 1,226 Michigan priests, and 24 per cent — or 296 — responded. All four recommendations were favored by 117 — or 39.5 per cent — of those responding. The group's median age was 41. An older group of 79 — or 28.6 per cent — respondents with a median age of 57 said they opposed all four recommendations.

NEW DETROIT'S LOSS

Milliken Staff Aims To Muzzle PBB Film

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A British film documentary detailing Michigan's PBB contamination problems is proving a political embarrassment to Gov. William Milliken even before the film's debut in this country.

Based on the film's script, Milliken's staff is trying to squelch a planned national airing of the one-hour film, "The Poisoning of Michigan," on public television next month.

Contending the program is biased and inaccurate, Milliken's aides have requested a meeting with Public Broadcast Service executives in Washington this week to argue for scrapping or modifying the film.

"It's yellow journalism at its worst," said Kathy Stariha, Milliken's special assistant in charge of the PBB issue, who said the governor is aware of the staff's activities and has approved them.

The film details how PBB was accidentally mixed with cattle feed four years ago, how the feed was distributed across the state and the subsequent destruction of thousands of contaminated animals and food products.

The chief complaint is that the film is presented largely from the point of view of the farmers and health researchers who have long contended PBB, or polychlorinated biphenyl, poses a serious health threat.

Milliken's Republican administration — which already sees PBB as a big political issue for the 1978 election — reportedly is portrayed as largely ineffectual in its handling of the crisis.

Ms. Stariha, who prefers the feminist designation, said she obtained the script two months ago from "confidential sources." It has not been officially released in the United States.

The one-hour documentary has been purchased by television station WETA in Washington for national distribution to PBS affiliates Oct. 4. It was aired last March in London by Thames Television, an independent British network.

Some state officials familiar with the PBB issue don't agree with Ms. Stariha's negative characterization of the British show.

It draws "some hard-hitting conclusions" but is essentially accurate and unbiased, according to Asst. Atty. Gen. Stewart Freeman, one of more than 20 persons interviewed on camera.

Ms. Stariha last month submitted copies of the script to four high-level state officials for evaluation. Of the four — Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner, Public Health Director Maurice Reizen and Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball, in addition to Freeman — only Ball returned a detailed list of complaints.

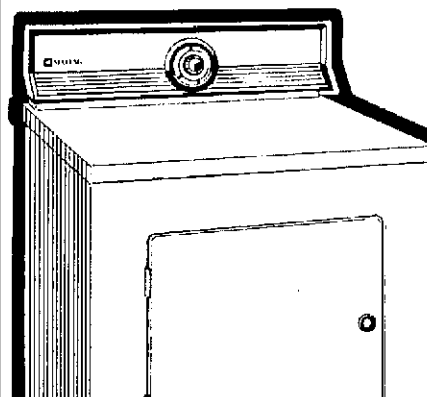

Tanner said he considers the program "sensationalized and biased," but he found no factual errors in the script.

Ms. Stariha said Milliken's Washington lobbyist, Robert Horn, hopes to talk WETA out of running the film, but would settle for persuading them to make it more objective. Should that fail, Ms. Stariha said, Milliken's aides would try to convince Michigan PBS stations not to carry the film.

WETA executive producer Christie Basham said Monday that she would listen to Horn's complaints, but added: "nothing will be changed if he tells me a lot of stuff about how he doesn't like it because it makes them look bad."

Teacher Pension Rule May Cost State Millions

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A court ruling that may force the state to come up with millions of dollars in extra cash to pay teacher pensions is under scrutiny by state budget and legal officials.

A meeting was to be held today to discuss Tuesday's ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals and ponder a possible appeal to the Supreme Court. Acting on a lawsuit filed by school employees, the Appeals Court said the state cannot keep paying current retirement benefits with money intended for future teacher pensions. Stephen Van Nott, director of the Bureau of Retirement Systems in the Department of Management and Budget, said the decision may force the state to come up with some $40 million to $80 million extra every year to pay monthly retirement benefits for teachers and other school employees.

Meanwhile, the organization representing the school employees also studied the decision — which gave them only a partial victory — and said it might take the case to the Supreme Court itself. In its 1976 lawsuit, the Retirement Coordinating Council charged that the state had underfunded the retirement plan by up to $80 million a year — a debt it now says may have reached $150 million annually and could total $1.5 billion.

The focus of the complicated case is the way the state pays pensions. The state is supposed to allocate enough money each year to pay retirement benefits earned by each school employee in that same year, and save it for the time the employee retires. But the council contended, and the state admitted, that Michigan is paying pensions to some current retirees out of money it has set aside to meet future pension demands.

The council said because the state underfunded the system in the past, it now must use money intended for future pensions to pay some current benefits. That practice, it argued, endangers future payments to those teachers now working. The court said it is unconstitutional for the state to use current funding to pay off part of the past debt. But the court said it doesn't have the power to order the legislature to reduce spending on other state programs to provide more money for the retirement system. How to allocate state resources is up to the governor and legislature, it said.

That angered the council, which wanted the court to order a solution to the problem. "We won't simply rely on the legislature," said James White, attorney for the council.

The system now is entirely funded by the state. School employees don't contribute any of their paycheck as they used to. The state currently pays out some $122 million a year in retirement benefits, according to state officials. There are some 40,000 retirees, with 240,000 school employees currently at work, said Dorothy Eubank, director of the council.

World-Famed Maestro Stokowski Dead At 95

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The music world paid tribute today to Leopold Stokowski, the legendary conductor and recording pioneer who molded the Philadelphia Orchestra into one of the world's greatest and helped shape America's musical tastes in the first half of the century.

Stokowski died in his sleep Tuesday at his home in Nether Wallop, a village in Hampshire. His agent in Britain, Marty Wargo, said the 95-year-old conductor "just slipped away" after a career of more than 70 years and 7,000 performances.

Eugene Ormandy, who succeeded Stokowski as conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1938, said his predecessor was "a flamboyant, pioneering genius" who "brought great music to the attention of the general public." Violinist Isaac Stern said Stokowski "had that rare ability to put his personal stamp on a performance that always is a sign of an original musical mind. He was a very special man, and with him goes a kind of era... the time that the giants walked the earth."

New York Times critic Harold Schonberg said he "had a personal radiance that, in our time, could be matched only by Serge Koussevitzky and Arturo Toscanini." Stokowski gave his music "pure brilliance, with a touch of Lisztian exuberance, plus a quality of adventure in programming and orchestral textures," he wrote.

The Times of London called Stokowski "the unique and legendary maestro, the last survivor of the men whose conducting was not a technique, but the manifestation of an uncon-finable personality totally dedicated to music."

Born in London of Polish and Irish parents, Stokowski moved to the United States when he was 23 and was naturalized a U.S. citizen 10 years later. After leaving the Philadelphia Symphony, he conducted throughout the Americas and Europe and organized the All-America Youth Orchestra in 1940, the New York City Orchestra in 1944 and the American Symphony Orchestra in 1962.

He introduced to America the works of such 20th Century composers as Mahler, Berg, Stravinsky and Schoenberg. On stage he impressed millions of concert-goers with his white mane of hair and graceful hands that he used instead of a baton.

The most sound-conscious of conductors, Stokowski made records as early as 1917, experimented with stereophonic sound before its commercial production and worked with engineers on technical advancements to bring orchestral music to home listeners.

He appeared in four Hollywood pictures in the 1930s and '40s and collaborated with Walt Disney in the film classic "Fantasia," which set animated cartoons to classical music and widened the music's popularity.

Q: Where's Truman Capote these days? Where's his long-awaited book, "Answered Prayers"? — G. G., Albany, N.Y.

A: He's been trying to finish his book but has slowed down considerably. An excerpt about the beautiful people was published in Esquire magazine some time ago and friends think Capote was badly wounded by the jet set's angry response. In any event, Truman has moved to Santa Monica because he was, too, lonely living in his house in Palm Springs.

ADVICE OF COUNSEL: The famous lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, came up with a play he felt might have convinced Son of Sam to surrender. Bailey got permission from the New York Bar Association to offer through a New York newspaper to defend the alleged murderer if he would give himself up. David Berowitz was captured just before the offer was scheduled to be published.

Q: Whenever I watch Ann Miller on a TV talk show, she always makes such grand entrances. You'd think she was the superstar of all time. Yet,

I don't remember her career as being all that spectacular. — A. D., Topeka, Kans.

A: Ann, who is 58, is canny enough to capitalize on the MGM movies she made late in her career. Her film clips in the "That's Entertainment" series did a lot for her luster as a talk-show guest. But the truth is that Ann, seldom a top-draw leading lady, was best known for her dancing.

LMC Paramedic Course Offered

Classes to certify ambulance attendants as paramedics will be offered for the first time in southwestern Michigan when Lake Michigan college becomes licensed to teach the advanced EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) course.

The announcement was made last night by a Michigan Department of Public Health official during a meeting at Berrien county courthouse.

Sven Bergman, field representative for the training and education system for the state health department, said LMC's application to teach the 200-hour paramedic course will probably be approved by the state health department, so classes could begin in mid-October.

Bergman spoke on state regulations governing training of ambulance attendants at a meeting last night sponsored by the Southwest Health Systems, Inc., a non-profit organization which receives federal funds to provide health care planning in an eight-county southwestern Michigan region.

Some 25 area ambulance attendants and hospital administrators attended the meeting.

Advanced EMT training, Bergman said, qualifies ambulance attendants as paramedics, enabling them to administer medication to patients at the scene of an accident with directions from a physician at a local hospital via radio.

The advanced EMT training differs from basic EMT training in that people who are certified in basic EMT training can't administer medication to a patient, Bergman said. Basic EMT courses are currently offered by Lake Michigan college and Southwestern Michigan college, he said.

Basic EMT training is required before taking the paramedic course.

Man Asks Hearing In Van Buren Court

By DENNIS COGSWELL

PAW PAW — A 27-year-old Lawrence man was ordered held on $7,500 bond Tuesday after demanding Seventh district court preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering.

The charge against Frank Valles, route 1, 54th street, involves a Sept. 18, 1976 break-in at a barn on 60th street near 82nd avenue in Hartford township, according to state police at Paw Paw. Troopers said Valles was arrested Monday after new information was received pertaining to the case. Valles' hearing was set for Sept. 20.

In other cases, John S. Martinez, 30, Kalamazoo, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Sept. 4 in Paw Paw.

Alan R. Neiderbaumer, 17, Mattawan, was placed on pre-sentence investigation after pleading guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property under $100. He was ordered by Judge William C. Buhl to make restitution of $387 for damages to the Ports of Call party store on Red Arrow highway about three miles east of Paw Paw, and a barber shop across the street.

Neiderbaumer had originally been charged with two counts of malicious destruction over $100 after Van Buren sheriff's deputies reported both buildings had been damaged by spray paint Sept. 4.

The judge said he will impose the remainder of the sentence following completion of the pre-sentence report.

Ed Totzke Leaving Berrien Planners

H. Edward Totzke, the only charter member of the Berrien county planning commission still serving, yesterday announced his resignation from the commission effective next month.

Totzke, 75, of 1840 East Ocken avenue, Benton township, has served on the commission since its formation in January, 1965. The announcement came during the regular planning commission meeting.

Totzke cited a number of reasons for his resignation. He said he had moved from the City of Benton Harbor to Benton township, leaving the city without representation on the commission, and added he would miss a number of meetings in the future because of vacations.

But one of the main reasons, he said, was to enable the commission to get younger members. He stressed that experience is valuable on any public organization, but equally valuable are younger people and the new ideas they can contribute.

A veteran real estate broker, Totzke in 1975 turned over the operation of Totzke Real Estate to his son, Thomas, and Richard A. Voss. He has been in real estate some 52 years, and founded his own firm 37 years ago.

Furnace Startup Goes Awry

VETOES BAN: Gov. James Thompson of Illinois Tuesday vetoed a bill which would have prevented the use of taxpayers' money to pay for abortions for poor women. He said the proposal to prohibit Medicaid payments for abortions would force poor women to retreat "to back-alley butchers," risking their lives and serious injury. (AP Wirephoto)

LOSS IS $40,000 — Fire destroyed a huge barn on the Silver Dollar Ranch Tuesday with a loss estimated at $40,000, state police said.

SOUTH HAVEN — Fire early this morning damaged the basement of the Adolph Rogalla residence, 59th street, Geneva township, according to South Haven firemen.

The owner said the fire started when he attempted to light an oil-burning furnace at approximately 7 a.m. Firemen said damage was confined to the furnace and several pieces of furniture nearby.

Decatur Twp. Eyes '300 People' Rule

DECATUR — An ordinance requiring groups of 300 or more people to get a permit to hold an outdoor meeting in Decatur township was ordered drawn up last night.

The Decatur township board instructed its attorney to prepare the ordinance for board consideration later. Action came after board members Stanley Rajzer, trustee, and James Alshagen, treasurer, recommended action be taken.

The township's current outdoor gathering ordinance sets the number at 5,000 people.

In other action, the board approved a request from a township farmer seeking what could amount to a tax rebate on farm property taxes.

With township approval the request of Daniel Cornish will be forwarded to the state land use office for approval. Under the open space land act, farmers in areas assessed higher than normal because of adjacent land uses may apply for a tax adjustment. The act requires that farmlands remain in farm use for a period of 10 years. The request is for four parcels that Cornish farms.

The board approved a request from Guy Congdon to increase the size of his campground by 40 units. Congdon owns Leisure Valley campground on CR-689, three miles south of Decatur.

Township Supervisor Joseph Miller told the board that he would begin preparations for township reassessments in November. He said Van Buren county worker under the CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) program would be making property measurements and taking photographs of property to be placed in a permanent file.

A donation of $300 was approved for the Van Buren county commission on aging. It was the same amount the board donated last year. The board approved placing future revenue sharing money it receives into a separate bank account for bookkeeping purposes.

Anti-War Fugitive Rudd Ending Life On The Run

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Rudd, one of the most prominent leaders of the 1960s antiwar movement, will face a variety of charges after voluntarily ending his seven years as a fugitive member of the clandestine Weather Underground.

He planned his surrender today at the offices of Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau.

Rudd had eluded a sometimes intensive FBI manhunt since 1970. His "Wanted" poster still was tacked to Post Office walls from coast-to-coast when attorney Gerald Lefcourt told authorities Tuesday that Rudd would give himself up today.

"We have a busy two days ahead of us," Lefcourt said late Tuesday.

Lefcourt said Rudd would be flown to Chicago on Thursday to face Illinois charges.

Rudd led the student takeover at Columbia University in 1968, and engaged in bloody street fighting with Chicago police a year later. He faces charges related to both incidents.

His decision to surrender follows earlier reports that the Weather Underground had split into factions and some members wanted to "surface," abandoning the tactics of violence to concentrate on aboveground political activity.

In Maplewood, N.J., Rudd's father, Jacob, told a reporter, "Mark's 30. Maybe he wants to join the establishment."

Rudd is the best known of several Weather Underground members, who have turned themselves in this year. The FBI says 14 Underground members are still sought, including Benardine Dohrn and several other longtime leaders of the group.

Phoebe Hirsch and Robby Roth, who turned themselves in six months ago, were sentenced Tuesday to two years on probation and fined $1,000 for their roles in "Days of Rage," the 1968 Weatherman demonstration in Chicago.

They have refused to discuss the Underground with authorities.

The Weather Underground

was known as Weatherman when it was created in 1966, an extremist offshoot of Students for a Democratic Society. The group dedicated itself to "the violent overthrow of established power in the United States."

The FBI attributes a wide array of criminal actions to the Weather Underground, including an explosion at the U.S. Capitol, a 1974 blast at Gulf Oil headquarters in Pittsburgh and the 1970 prison escape of former drug guru Timothy Leary.

Rudd faces a series of misdemeanor charges in New York, including obstruction of government administration, criminal solicitation and unlawful assembly — all stemming from the Columbia demonstrations.

In Chicago, Rudd faces charges of mob action, aggravated battery and resisting arrest — all stemming from the "Days of Rage" demonstrations in the fall of 1968.

In both places, he also will face bail-jumping charges.

Federal conspiracy charges, which alleged that Rudd conspired to run dynamite across state lines, were dropped after the government admitted it had used illegal wiretaps to obtain evidence.

MARK RUDD
Variety Of Charges

In 1975, newspapers reported that friends had received smuggled letters from Rudd that were written in Cuba.

At that time, Rudd was believed being held in a camp in Pinar del Rio, a province southwest of Havana, on unspecified charges.

The New York Daily News reported then that the letters said Rudd had been placed in a camp for the rehabilitation of homosexuals after he had been arrested.

Teacher Strikes Continuing

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was another day off today for thousands of Michigan students in four public school districts as their teachers continued strikes that have delayed the start of fall classes.

A tally by the Michigan Education Association and the Michigan Federation of Teachers Tuesday showed the strikes were affecting about 75,300 students and 3,235 teachers.

On Tuesday, teachers in the West Bloomfield School District reached a tentative contract agreement. Following the agreement, the district's 265 teachers voted to return to schools today.

Nearly 8,000 students had been affected by the strike in West Bloomfield, a suburb northwest of Detroit.

Teachers in West Bloomfield were expected to ratify the agreement in about a week, an MEA spokesman said.

Strikes were expected to continue in Davison, Flint, Bay City and Highland Park.

The strike is idling some 42,000 students and 1,800 teachers in Flint; 17,000 students and 700 teachers in Bay City; 6,000 students and 250 teachers in Davison; and 10,200 students and 485 teachers in Highland Park.

Coloma To Revise Athletic Program

COLOMA — The Coloma school district's athletic program was slated for some key changes by the school board here last night. In a position paper, the board outlined a series of changes aimed at improving the program. Included were making the athletic director's position a full-time office form part-time status; establishing an intramural program; eliminating inter-school sports at the middle school level; and requiring a budget covering all income and costs.

The position paper also said that the athletic director should be housed in the same building as the athletic facilities are located. No effective date for the changes was set. Board member Richard Eastman said the board position is a result of information obtained from four meetings held last spring with the athletic director, coaches, the student council and the Coloma boosters club.

Judge John T. Hammond set bond at $20,000 which Blackburn failed to post.

Edwardsburg Man Is Slain

EDWARDSBURG — An Edwardsburg man was fatally wounded here last night during an argument at a mobile home, according to police in this southern Cass county village. According to police, Terry Lindsey, 23, route 3, North Shore drive, died at Memorial hospital, South Bend, Ind., about an hour after he was shot with a 12-gauge shotgun. He was shot in the lower chest, police said.

Booked at the Cass county jail, Cassopolis, on an open charge of murder was Lonnie Webb, 23, route 3, North Shore drive, Edwardsburg. Police said the shooting occurred about 8 p.m. in a mobile home occupied by Webb. It stemmed from an argument during which several other people were present, police reported. Kansas City Losses Run In Millions piles of clothing, mannequins, still decked out in $200 and $300 suits, were piled on the sidewalks. A designer dress in one store showed the waterline with a hunk of mud.

Dozens of cars, tossed like paper cups by the raging waters, were hauled away by tow trucks.

The damage by no means was confined to the big, fancy stores.

Among the storm victims was a family of four, whose car was swept off a street in suburban Leawood, Kan., into a rain swollen creek. The ladies of Marshall Kleinsch, 40, and his 2-year-old son were found in one place; the floodwaters had carried the bodies of his wife and 6-year-old son four blocks farther. Their bodies were found hanging in a tree along the banks of the creek.

There was one death outside the immediate Kansas City area. A 14-year-old boy, Ricky Lee Saldivar, was found in a creek near his home in Leavenworth, Kan.

By Wednesday, electric service had been restored to the 35,000 homes that experienced outages. It was the same with gas and water, but some telephones were not in service early today.

Les Lunnon, a weather service research meteorologist, said the conditions that produced the flash floods were a coincidence that might happen once in 1,000 years — a complicated sequence that had each set of storms building on the previous ones.

However, officials said, area residents were given plenty of warning.

The board approved relocating a fire hydrant presently located near the southwest corner of the high school further west from the building and adding an attachment making it easier to use by firemen. The cost of the relocation was pegged at $1,800 and will be done by Henry J. Compton, South Haven. Lance met with the President on Tuesday in what a White House spokesman called a routine weekly meeting. The spokesman said the question of Lance's possible resignation was not discussed.

Lance emerged from the session saying he is "going to keep on doing the job" as Budget Director despite mounting congressional demands for his resignation. Lance is to testify before the Senate Committee on Thursday and Friday.

The Chicago newspaper said Powell contended that Percy had flown regularly and recently on a Bell & Howell airplane. Percy headed the firm until 1966. Powell also was quoted as saying he had heard Percy used airplanes and facilities of the First National Bank of Chicago during his 1972 re-election campaign.

But Percy said there was "absolutely no truth" in Powell's allegations. The newspaper said Powell attributed his information to an unidentified source who had ridden on a Bell & Howell plane with Percy.

Percy's contention that Bell & Howell has never owned a plane was confirmed by Donald Fry, chairman of the firm, the Sun-Times said.

Percy said he had never flown on a plane owned by the Chicago bank, but that he had used bank facilities for a fund raising dinner in 1972. He produced a check for $2,949.91, the newspaper said, stating that was the payment to the bank for the use of the facilities.

Sherry was the government lawyer in charge of an investigation of overdrafts which the Cathoun (Ga.) First National Bank allowed Lance to run up in his unsuccessful campaign for governor of Georgia in 1974. At the time, Lance was chairman of the board of the bank. The matter was referred to the Justice Department, but was dropped without prosecution.

In earlier testimony, Robert Bloom, first deputy comptroller of the currency, conceded that he cut Sherry short during a telephone conversation in which Sherry says he was trying to warn about Lance's banking problems at the same time Bloom was preparing a letter to the Senate committee praising Lance's qualifications.

In the letter, he said Lance was well qualified to head the Office of Management and Budget. Some committee members have charged that the letter was misleading.

In an interview with Internal Revenue Service investigators, Sherry said he told Bloom the campaign overdrafts "demonstrated irresponsible conduct" and "raised serious questions in his mind as to Mr. Lance's qualifications for a high government position."

St. Joseph township police said tools valued at a total of $146 were reported stolen from a boat owned by Richard Dufresne, of 3342 Pipestone road, Sodus township, while the craft was moored on the St. Joseph river near the 2800 block of River Bend drive August 6-24.

North Lincoln Clears $2,666 From Tourney

A 61-team boys' baseball tournament at St. Joseph township's Eaton park grossed $11,786 and cleared $2,666 for the sponsoring North Lincoln Boys Baseball association.

The financial report was presented by Chad High, association treasurer, at Tuesday's meeting of the St. Joseph township parks commission. Admissions for the 15-day tournament that ran through Aug. 13 produced $4,356, High said. Team entry fees of $20 each generated $1,220 and income from the concession stand was $6,208, he reported.

High said expenses of $9,120 went for umpires, $2,356; concession stand, $2,659; trophies, $1,686; 33 dozen baseballs, $625; miscellaneous, including a $200 fence built and a fee to the parks commission, $1,010.

High said the associations profits will be used for equipment and to counter balance the 1976 season which left the association with a deficit of $2,200.

The commission said the fee that it will receive from the association will be used to pay Baseball Association President Mike Denekas $1,000 for directing the tournament and for his expenses. The remainder will pay for materials that were used to build bleachers for fans.

Last night's meeting was held at Eaton park in the township's new maintenance building. Park drainage was not discussed during the meeting, although previous reports indicated it would be.

By participating in the tournament, the township gained bleachers for Eaton park and "provided the largest single recreation program that this township has ever had," according to Parks Commissioner Charles Williamson. He and other commissioners praised the tournament.

After the meeting Denekas said the tournament will be held next year if the association's new slate of officers, chosen in November, vote for it.

Over 1,000 boys played in the 122 games, Williamson said. Denekas said last month girls will be allowed to play next year. A controversy arose over the "Boys Only" rule this year.

Supervisor of Public Works John Tober said township employees put in 506 hours during the tournament. At times four games were being played at the same time on different diamonds, and workers had to prepare each field before each game, Tober said.

He said the employees were forced to ignore other chores during the period, such as mowing lots.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Disturbance Probe Leads To Arrest

Benton Harbor police reported that Patrolman James Spalo was kicked by a man arrested during an investigation of a disturbance inside Harbor Towers about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Spalo was not injured, according to Sgt. Charles Harrison.

Arrested in connection with the incident was William D. Schaffer, 32, who was booked for investigation of a charge of assault and battery of a police officer.

A spokesman for Harbor Towers, public housing project for the elderly and disabled, said Schaffer's mother lives in Harbor Towers, but Schaffer does not. It's not known where Schaffer resides.

Sgt. Harrison said police were called to the fifth floor on a complaint of a man running in the hallway and yelling.

A 1977 Ford van reported stolen off a dealer's lot in Dowagiac Tuesday morning was found later in the day in a cornfield in Pipestone township, Berrien county.

Berrien Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Greer reported the van was stuck in a field off Meadowbrook near Wolfe road. The van had been reported stolen from Bob Howe Ford agency, M-51, Dowagiac.

Leo Alan Zatkovic, 20, Frankfort, Mich., was arrested and booked for investigation of an auto theft charge, sheriff's officers said. Zatkovic was taken into custody after a man appeared at a service station at 1-94 and Napier avenue seeking assistance for a stalled car, Greer reported.

Carb Tinkerers, Take Note

DETROIT (AP) — There may be one less engine part for backyard mechanics to tamper with after the 1978 model year, according to the top two domestic automakers. Both General Motors and Ford Motor Co. are sealing carburetors on some models. GM already is using the new parts on a few 1978 cars, and plans to use them on all 1979 models. Ford said Tuesday it will use sealed — or "tamperproof" — carburetors on some 1979 cars and probably on all its 1980 models. That means it will take more than just a screwdriver to adjust the carburetor, the mechanical device which mixes air and fuel. The Environmental Protection Agency is expected to propose later this month a ruling to limit the number of adjustments that can be made to a car's engine that affect exhaust emissions.

He'd Open 'Blues' Meetings

DETROIT (AP) — The state's largest health insurer, Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield, would have to open its board meetings to the public under a bill which a state lawmaker says he will introduce next week. Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, said the Blues perform a semi-public function by virtue of the large number of Michigan residents — 60 per cent — who are policyholders, and because of the effect of its decisions on hospital costs, rates and doctor fees. The insurance giant has refused to open its meetings or to release the minutes of those meetings, saying it is a private corporation and public attendance would disrupt its sessions. Hollister said he has more than 30 co-sponsors for his bill, which would require the corporation to comply with the state's open meetings act by amending the 1939 law under which the Blues are organized.

Hundred Grand For Beans

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Upset about the image of its product, the Michigan Bean Commission is paying a public relations firm $100,000 to raise the status of the lowly bean. Maynard D. Brown, secretary-manager of the commission, says the campaign will stress that beans are tasty, nutritious and low in calories. It will also point out that, in this day of high food costs, the bean is a good value. It's the job of the Pittsburgh firm of Kelchum, MacLeod and Grove to make the bean more popular. The firm has been successful in the past pushing potatoes, strawberries, raisins and grapes. The agency's campaign will try to get more recipes for beans on the food pages of newspapers and will try to convince at least one fast food chain that it can make money selling beans for people on the go.

Young Hubbard Trounced

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — A former Dearborn police chief will enter the November elections a clear mayoral favorite after trouncing Frank Hubbard, son of a local political legend, in Tuesday's primary.

John O'Reilly led Hubbard by a two-to-one margin in 93 of 108 precincts reporting. The two will square off in November. Perpetual candidate Doug Thomas, a travel agent, trailed behind. O'Reilly, accused during the campaign of fixing traffic tickets while he was police chief, is trying to succeed Hubbard's father, Orville, who has been disabled by a stroke since 1974 and chose not to seek a 17th term. "I think (he) the voters were not willing to buy an heirloom candidate just on the basis of the name," said Reilly after piling up 15,158 votes to the younger Hubbard's 7,383.

Killer Gets 200-600 Years

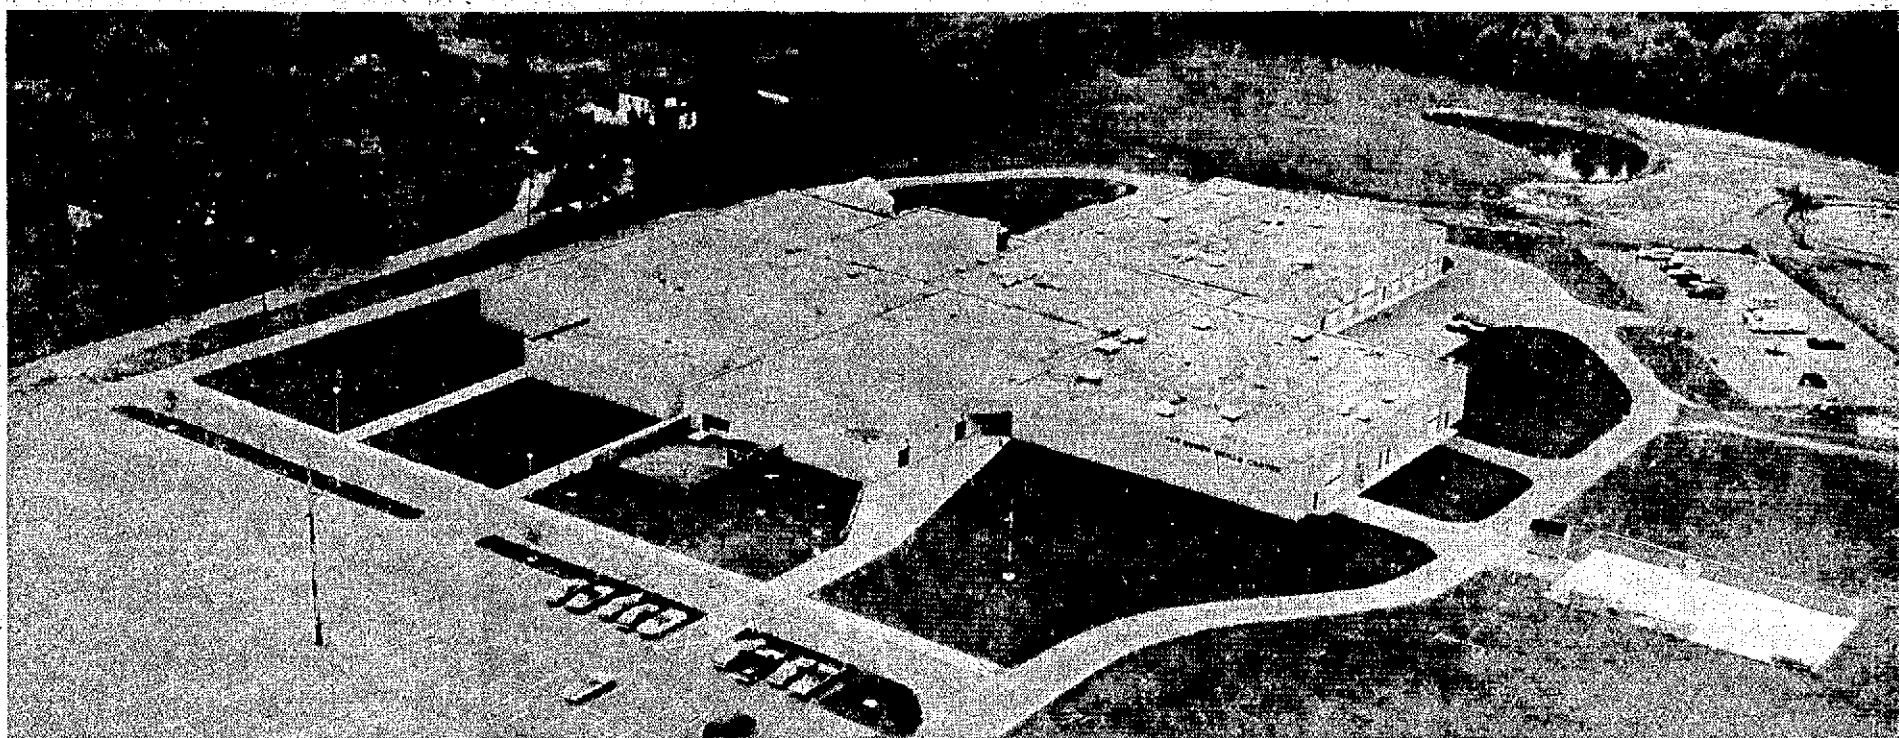

CHICAGO (AP) — A Circuit Court judge, calling the shooting of a white woman whose car was stalled in a flooded underpass "strictly one of racism," has sentenced a black man convicted of the slaying to 200 to 600 years in prison. Judge James M. Bailey imposed the sentence Tuesday on Marlon Logan, 31. Logan was also sentenced to serve another 200-to-600 year term to be served concurrently for the attempted murder of the woman's husband. The victim, Mrs. Phyllis Anderson, 51, of suburban Buffalo Grove, her husband and three of their six children were trapped in their car June 13, 1976, when it stalled in a flooded viaduct on the city's South Side. "We talk about Hitler and other people who have committed atrocities, but this is just as bad ... This (shooting) is strictly one of racism," said Bailey.

Oscodans Fight PBB Burials

MIO, Mich. (AP) — Officials in Oscoda County say they will go to court in a last-ditch bid to keep a burial site for PBB-tainted animals out of their area. At the same time, some area residents strongly opposed to the burial program have hinted they might take direct action to stop it. During a protest meeting last week, one county resident suggested state crews razing the pit be met "out there with our deer rifles." But county commissioners, while unanimously agreeing Tuesday to sue state officials in an effort to block establishment of the burial site north of Mio, cautioned against such action. "For God's sake," John Webster, a county commissioner begged residents, "don't commit any acts of violence." Department of Natural Resources crews were slated to begin work at the burial site on Monday. Peter Sketke of Grand Rapids, a lawyer for the commission, said he would seek a restraining order against the cattle burials within a week.

Merit Semi-Finals Include 15 Area Students

Scholars From 12 Schools Have Shot At Finals, Scholarships

Fifteen students from 12 southwestern Michigan high schools are among some 15,000 of the nation's top students named semi-finalists in 1978 National Merit Scholarship competition.

All 15 and the other semi-finalists will now compete for 3,901 Merit scholarships to be awarded next spring in the 23rd annual program.

The semi-finalists were the highest scorers on a test given last October to over one million students in about 3,000 schools nationwide. They represent the top half of one per cent of the nation's most academically talented young people.

To be considered for scholarships, semi-finalists must advance to finalist standing by meeting further requirements. These requirements include being fully endorsed and recommended for scholarships by their secondary school principals, presenting school records that confirm high academic standing, and substantiating their high qualifying test scores with equivalent scores on a second examination.

Over 90 per cent of the semi-finalists are expected to qualify as finalists. All winners of Merit scholarships will be chosen from the group of finalists.

Semi-finalists who attain finalist status will compete for at least 1,000 National Merit $1,000 scholarships. Each finalist in a particular state will compete with all other finalists in that state for one of these scholarships that are allocated on a state representational basis.

The National Merit $1,000 scholarships are one-time, nonrenewable awards supported by grants to NMSC from business and industrial organizations.

Finalists who meet the preferential criteria designated by grantors will also be considered for about 2,900 four-year Merit scholarships to be offered in 1978.

About 1,350 of these awards will be supported by grants to the Merit program from corporations, foundations, unions, and professional associations; some 1,530 four-year Merit scholarships will be underwritten by U.S. colleges and universities.

Depending on minimum and maximum values established by the grantor, the winner of a renewable Merit scholarship may receive up to $1,500, or more, during each of the four college undergraduate years.

Names of Merit scholarship winners in 1978 will be released in three public announcements through the news media. The winners of four-year corporate-sponsored Merit scholarships will be announced on April 13; winners of one-time National Merit $1,000 scholarships will be named on April 27; and the announcement of winners of college-sponsored four-year Merit scholarship will be made on May 4.

In the 22 annual Merit programs completed between 1956 and 1977, over 41,850 students have won Merit scholarships valued at more than $136 million.

Three area high schools, Lake Michigan Catholic, South Haven and Paw Paw, had two semi-finalists each this year, while Andrews Academy, Buchanan, Cassopolis, Gallen, Lawrence, Niles, Michigan Lutheran, St. Joseph and Watervliet had one each.

St. Joe Bears Host Big Eight Grid Favorite Friday

St. Joseph finds out Friday night if it's a championship caliber football team.

Coach Ike Muhlenkamp's Bears face Big Eight Conference favorite Battle Creek Lakeview in a 7:30 p.m. clash at Dickinson Stadium.

"I watched their scrimmage film and I can tell you they are tough," says Muhlenkamp. "They are very big on offense. It's going to be a real test for our young men."

Lakeview, which has defeated St. Joe 24-21 and 24-14 in its only two seasons in the league, comes to the twin cities off last Friday's 24-7 victory over Harper Creek, a game where the Spartans exploded for four touchdowns in less than a quarter.

Bill Proffitt, a 175-pound senior tailback, paced Lakeview with three touchdowns on 116 yards rushing in 23 carries. Running at fullback was 190-pound senior Dick Burton, who scored two touchdowns against the Bears last season.

Lakeview coach Al Fischer, who once coached at Bridgman, believes his team is a championship contender, but he feels it must play better than last Friday, when it trailed at halftime. "I hope that poor performance will make our people realize they can't just walk out on the field and win," he declares.

While St. Joe is facing the pre-season championship pick of conference coaches, Niles will be taking on Portage Central, the No. 2 selection. St. Joe and Niles were named to the fourth and sixth spots, respectively, in the poll.

Most of the Big Eight teams looked strong in their non-league season openers, with St. Joe beating Lakeshore 28-18, Niles blasting Buchanan 35-18, Holland humbling Grand Rapids West Ottawa 28-18, Kalamazoo Loy Norrix staggering Sturgis 33-12, Portage Central tripping Grand Rapids Creston 16-6 and Portage Northern nipping Albion 12-7. Only Kalamazoo Central, the conference newcomer, lost... 8-0 to Benton Harbor.

The only other conference clash Friday will see Holland play Portage Northern. Non-league tilts match Kalamazoo Central and Detroit Northwestern and Norrix and Ann Arbor Pioneer.

St. Joe's Muhlenkamp sees the secondary play of his Bears as being a key to his team's upset hopes Friday.

"We've got to come up and tackle their big people... We can't give them the big plays," declares the Bear mentor.

And Lakeview does have the line to spring its backs loose. The interior offensive unit returns intact, with 230-pound center Tim Lankford leading the way.

If the defense does the job, St. Joe should be in the game, because Muhlenkamp believes the Bears are "going to be able to score against most people."

Tailback Kevin Wheeler, who gained 76 yards against Lakeview last season, opened with a 137-yard effort last Friday. And quarterback Steve Ziebart hit on seven of nine passes for 98 yards.

"They have got a super passing game," notes Fischer. "We've got to do a lot of work on that to get ready for their passing game. Harper Creek didn't pass much."

St. Joe and Lakeview play very similar defenses, although the Spartans may blitz a little more. And both squads have some big players. St. Joe has 244-pound Ken Felke and 236-pound Brian LaSola at tackles, while Lakeview goes with 220-pound middle guard Tom Wise and 210-pound defensive end Don Wujewski.

"St. Joe is a good football team with two big defensive tackles... and they execute well," adds Fischer. "I just hope we don't get behind 14-0 like we have the last two years."

Michigan No. 1 In College Poll

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Michigan Wolverines are the new No. 1 team in The Associated Press' college football poll.

While the Oklahoma Sooners, No. 1 in the preseason poll, were giving their problems defeating underdog Vanderbilt 25-23 last week — a struggle that dropped them to fifth place — Michigan clobbered Illinois 37-9.

That pushed the Wolverines from preseason runner-up to the No. 1 position in the first regular-season poll with 42 of 62 first-place votes and 1,163 of a possible 1,240 points in nationwide balloting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern California, fourth in the preseason ratings, jumped to second by thumping Missouri 27-10. The Trojans received four first-place votes and 980 points.

Notre Dame, a hard-pressed 18-6 winner over Pittsburgh, held onto third place with nine first-place ballots and 884 points, while the defending national champion Panthers slipped from seventh to 10th.

Alabama trounced Mississippi 34-13 and climbed from sixth to fourth with one first-place vote and 771 points.

Then came Oklahoma, followed by Ohio State, a 10-0 winner over Miami of Florida but down from fifth place to sixth with one first-place vote and 647 points.

Texas A&M vaulted past Texas Tech from ninth place to seventh by downing Kansas 28-14. The Aggies received 502 points but no No. 1 ballots.

Texas Tech, however, received one first-place vote and 498 points after a 17-7 defeat of Baylor. The Aggies and Red Raiders were followed by a third Southwest Conference team, Houston, which shot from 14th to ninth by beating UCLA 17-13. The Cougars received one first-place vote and 422 points.

Penn State, 13th in the preseason ratings, rounded out the Top Ten.

Turner Wins First Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — What a difference a few years make. Unlike 1974, when he skipped the sluggish Mariner, Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner is getting a kick out of being able to hear the final gun on the America's Cup course.

Now at the helm of Courageous, the boat that beat Mariner for the defense three years ago, Turner is in a position not only to hear the New York Yacht Club fire its cannon but hear it from a front row seat.

"This was a real close race," Turner said Tuesday after beating challenger Australia by 1:48. "When I was on Mariner, we usually lost by 10 minutes all the time."

"The great thing about this year is always being able to hear the gun go off — even when we lost."

Australia looked her best Tuesday at the start, beating Courageous across by 12 seconds. However, the 12-meter yacht from down under was sailing with the wrong mainsail and lost time getting it trimmed.

Robins initiated a tacking duel on the first leg but wound up wasting time as Courageous sailed way on the weather side of the course, rounding the first mark 1:08 ahead of the new Aussie yacht.

After the 24.3-mile race in Rhode Island Sound, Turner explained that he used three jibs after being asked how he decided which ones were best.

MIKE JOLLY

Nightmares Rattle U-M's 'Bones'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "Bones" was so keyed up to start in Michigan's football opener last week that he had nightmares.

It wasn't until after the Wolverines clubbed Big Ten rival Illinois 37-9 that Mike Jolly's roommate, Bob Patek, told him he talked in his sleep all week about the game.

"He said I was saying stuff like, 'Where's Coleman?'" said Jolly, nicknamed "Bones," as in "skin and bones," by Coach Bo Schembechler.

But apparently Jolly's concern for the game and the running of swift Illinois tailback Coleman, not to mention the quarterbacking of Kurt Steger, paid off. Schembechler and his assistants this week named wide-side halfback Jolly the Wolverines' defensive "champion of the week" for his performance against the Illini.

Jolly, a 6-foot-3, 177-pounder, intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and was in on five tackles, three of them solo.

He said Jack Harbaugh, Michigan assistant who coaches the secondary, told him Steger

"could be the best quarterback we'll face all year."

"I thought Steger would throw more," Jolly said. "I was having nightmares about that. I didn't know until last week. My roommate said I was talking in my sleep about it."

Jolly, a sophomore from Aquinas High School in Southgate, was so good as a prep that Schembechler himself recruited him.

"Bo came to my house and said I'd have a chance to be on the second team as a freshman and first team my sophomore year," Jolly said. "No other team recruited me because I told them I wasn't interested. I figured if Bo came to my house, that's enough."

"When he came over I had a broken leg. And he thought I was bigger. He said, 'Boy, I thought you had more meat on your bones.' He always kids me in practice. He calls me 'Bones.'"

Jolly, who is from the Detroit suburb of Melvindale, said he didn't want to get lost in the shuffle of a big high school and so he went to Class C Dearborn

Sacred Heart — which closed after his junior year. Then he transferred to Aquinas, turning down a recruiting bid from perennial Class B powerhouse Dearborn Divine Child.

If he wanted a smaller high school, why did he decide to go to a huge university like Michigan?

"It all went back to when I was in the eighth grade," he said. "When a kid asked me, 'Hey, Mike, got me some football tickets when you go to Michigan.' That always stuck in my mind."

Essian, Gamble Power White Sox Victory

Yankee Rookie Is Red Sox Stopper

For their most important game of the season, the New York Yankees did not start former 20-game winners Catfish Hunter, Ken Holtzman or Mike Torrez. Nor did they trot out last year's 19-game winner Ed Figueroa or former Cincinnati ace Don Gullett.

Instead, they opted for their stopper, Ron Guidry, the skinny rookie with the blazing fastball.

"Guidry's been our most consistent pitcher since he got into the starting rotation," said Yankee Manager Billy Martin. "I think when he's right he can throw as hard as anyone in the league."

The Boston Red Sox, seeing Guidry for the first time this season, now can attest to both the 27-year-old's speed and accuracy. He wiped them out 4-2 Tuesday night with a five-hit, nine-strikeout performance that pulled the Yankees 2½ games in front of the Red Sox in the tight American League East race.

"I've pitched a lot of good games but I don't think I've been as excited to win a game as much as this," Guidry said after posting his sixth consecutive triumph, the last four of them complete games.

"I think that's the first time I literally jumped off the mound and that's something I hardly ever do," said Guidry, whose 14th victory in 20 decisions ended Boston's five-game winning streak.

The idle Baltimore Orioles are three games back. New York has 17 games remaining, Boston 18 and Baltimore 18.

Mickey Rivers, not normally known for his power, gave the Yankees a 3-2 lead with a two-run homer in New York's three-run fifth inning before an excited throng of 55,266 — the largest regular-season crowd in the refurbished Yankee Stadium.

Elsewhere in the AL, the Chicago White Sox downed the Minnesota Twins 6-1, the California Angels bombed the Texas Rangers 12-7 and the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Seattle Mariners 6-5 in 10 innings. Rain forced postponement of the doubleheader between Oakland and Kansas City and a night game between Detroit and Cleveland.

Dave Kingman blasted a pair of two-run homers, his first in the AL, as California beat Texas and also became a part of pitching history.

Gaylord Perry struck out eight Angels to raise his career total to 2,823, moving him past Cy Young to fourth on the all-time list. The 36-year-old Perry trails Jim Bunning, Bob Gibson and Walter Johnson, whose career mark stands at 3,306.

Jim Essian hit a two-run homer and Oscar Gamble added a solo shot, backing Francisco Barrios' eight-inning and pacing Chicago over Minnesota.

The triumph moved the second-place White Sox within 7½ games of Kansas City, the leader in the AL West.

Don Money's one-out homer in the 10th inning vaulted Milwaukee over Seattle, capping the Brewers' dramatic comeback.

Craig Reynolds' two-run homer had given Seattle a 4-2 lead in the fifth inning and Juan Bernhardt's seventh homer of the season in the sixth added another. But Robin Yount of Milwaukee tied the game 5-5 with a three-run, two-out homer in the ninth.

Money then slamed his 24th homer to right-center field.

Whitten Sudden-Death Michigan PGA Winner

DAVISON, Mich. (AP) — After the pressure of serving as a medic in Vietnam, Buddy Whitten wasn't about to be deterred by the tension of a neck-and-neck finish in the 58th Michigan PGA championship.

Whitten, a 30-year-old assistant pro at Franklin Hills Country Club outside Detroit, wielded an "unbelievable" putter and captured the state's top professional golf tournament Tuesday with a sudden-death playoff victory over Farmington's John Jawor.

It was the tourney's second successive sudden-death finish.

Jawor, at 41 the youngest of 11 children and one of five brothers who are golf pros, 3-putted the first extra hole while Whitten two-putted the 31-yard, par 4. No. 1 hole to grab the title.

Touring pro Gary Groh of Bridgman finished two strokes back at 145 and won $550. Tim Sawinski of Benton Harbor curled a 161 and earned $100, while Tex Simon of Benton Harbor and Bob Meyer of Buchanan each posted 154s good for $40 apiece.

The $15,000 tournament was played at the 6,863-yard, par 72 Davison Country Club course near Flint.

Whitten (72-71) and Jawor (73-70) were the only ones to break par in the two-day, 36-hole event. Both finished with 1-under 143s. Whitten tying Jawor on the par five eighteenth hole by sinking an 18-inch birdie putt.

Jim Picard of Grosse Pointe Woods bogeyed the 18th to lose the lead and wind up tied with Lynn Janson of Cornscoot Park for third at even-par 144.

Groh and Mount Pleasant's Dick Horgan were alone at 145 and 146, respectively.

Favorites Tangle In Bud Opener

No Tuneups For Comets, Chiefs

There will be no Blossomland tuneups for favorites Dowagiac and Coloma.

The Chiefs and Comets, picked by coaches in preseason balloting to finish one-two in the final league standings, meet head-on this Friday night to open the 1977 Bud season.

Both clubs, however, must rebound from tough non-league opening setbacks. Coloma lost to Lake Michigan Catholic 12-7 while Dowagiac was nipped by Detroit de Porres 20-19.

Lakeshore, also seeking to come back from its 28-18 loss to St. Joseph, will entertain Edwardsburg. Other Blossomland tilts has Cassopolis trekking to River Valley and Brandywine visiting Buchanan.

"I think it will be a matter of who can rebound the quickest after that first loss...who can get their heads up again and get going again," offers Comet Coach Bob Irvin.

Larry McLaughlin threw for 155 yards and two scores against Detroit and should be the Chiefs' main offensive threat against the Comets.

"With McLaughlin they sure have some good passing attack," states Irvin, a spectator at the first Dowagiac game. "With his passing they almost game back and pulled out the game. And I suspect they can move the ball well on the ground although they didn't run much in the opener. We know they have some good backs."

Dowagiac, which will be out to snap a six-game losing skid over two seasons, will have to stop a solid Coloma running punch. Senior Scott McLean rushed for 89 yards against Catholic in his varsity debut.

Mark Carter, another tailback who sat out Saturday's game with a dislocated finger, will be ready to go in Friday's game at Dowagiac.

"I think it's sort of a 'must' game for both teams," comments Chief Coach Russ Barnes. "We're picked to be favorites and it's obvious the team which is on the short end of the stick will have a real night to stay in the race."

"I saw Coloma play Saturday and they made a lot of the same opening game mistakes we did. I expect Coloma to run right at us and say 'stop us'. We had some problems doing that against Detroit."

The Lancers, picked for third place in the preseason coaches poll, hope to avoid digging themselves into another early hole with a win over the Eddies. Since the unbeaten team of 1972, Lakeshore hasn't tasted victory in any of their first two contests of the season. The Lancers started the 0-2 in 1973, 0-3 in 1974, 0-4 in 1975 and 0-2 last fall.

The Eddies, blanked by White Pigeon 30-0 last week, appear down this fall but Lakeshore Coach Dave Topping is taking nothing for granted.

"When we play Edwardsburg we always expect them to be ready to hit and they always do," says Topping. "The Eddies always seem to play well against Lakeshore. And all the games seem to be close. Edwardsburg ran into a fine ball club in White Pigeon, which is one of the better Class C ball clubs around."

"This is one of the best White Pigeon clubs I've seen as far as execution is concerned," tells Eddie Coach Ted Peak, the dean (8th year) of Blossomland coaches. "But we made some mistakes...had mistakes. Inexperience hurt us. We had only one offensive player back in the position he played last year. And only three on defense."

"Lakeshore is a tough ball club. Freer (Paul) and Brister (Odeil) have speed and are strong and can break loose any time."

The St. Joe game films proved a mixed bag for Topping.

"Studying the films we saw some bad and some good things. We have to work with the offensive line yet and get more consistent blocking. Defensively, we have to get our linebackers moving a little more. Also we have to work with our punt team...we had a punt blocked."

"But these are things we feel we can work on to make this into a pretty good football team."

Cass and Brandywine, both big opening game winners, should have little trouble with River Valley, and Buchanan, respectively.

Undefeated Lakers Topple Mustangs

What a difference a year makes.

Last season River Valley's girls basketball team won its first 23 games before losing 62-38 to Marine City in the Class B state finals.

But the Mustang hopes for an unbeaten regular season this year were spotted quickly. Lake Michigan Catholic toppled River Valley 40-30 Tuesday night.

The Lakers led at all three quarter stops, holding margins of 7-4, 18-4 and 28-15. Catholic is now 3-0, while the Mustangs are 0-1.

"LMC is a good team," River Valley coach Fred Knutel said. "But we have a lot of work to do. I knew that, however."

Julie Gnodtke, the only returning player who saw much action for the Mustangs last season, tossed in 22 points and pulled down eight rebounds. But much of her production came in the second half. Gnodtke picked up her fourth foul early in the second quarter and was limited to just four points in the first half.

Helen McQuillan paced the Lakers with 15 points and Carol Lomonaco pulled down 10 rebounds.

While River Valley was dropping its opener, four other Blossomland teams were establishing their credentials as contenders this year. Buchanan crushed South Haven 58-42 and Coloma got by Galien 52-30.

Patience Vanderbush scored 10 of her game-high 17 points as Buchanan raced to an amazing 30-8 first-quarter lead in its victory. The Bucks led 49-10 at halftime and chugged from there.

Lynn Bobo added 13 points and Tracy Hargreaves and Sharon Rottman had 12 apiece. Jackie Backus tallied 10 for Berrien.

Billie Goin poured in 31 points as Cass routed Constantine. Teresa Gilliam added 23 and Paula Kelly and Pam Marsh had 11 apiece for the Rangers, now 1-0.

Lakeshore got 24 points from Kim Foster and 18 more from Marlene Peldys in winning its first game in three starts. Guard Jamie Sinkiewicz added nine points and nine steals for the winners.

Maria Sarno tallied 14 points for South Haven, now 0-1.

Nancy Capizzo scored 12 points in Coloma's win. The Comets, 1-0, led 11-8 at the end of the first quarter, 34-19 at halftime and 44-22 after three quarters.

Galien's Sue Heller led all scorers with 13.

Decatur Is Lone Winner For SAC

Only Decatur was able to capture a victory among three SAC girls basketball teams in action Tuesday night.

The Raiders gunned down Bangor 47-29 in its non-league opener. In other action, Lawrence suffered a heartbreaking 34-31 overtime setback at the hands of Hartford and Lawton was blasted by Schockcraft 45-29.

Judy Davis tossed in 16 points for Decatur, which hopes to improve on last season's third-place finish. Truly Mortenson had 11 points for Bangor.

Lori Shindeldecker was Hartford's sparkplug, but it was a basket by Jill Rose which sent the game overtime. Rose scored with just 18 seconds left in regulation to tie the score at 31-31.

Shindeldecker tossed in 22 points for the Indians, including all three overtime free throws.

Lawrence led most of the game, holding quarter margins of 10-8, 18-11 and 28-19.

Judee Reid and Robin Stewart each tallied eight points in Lawton's losing effort.

Spurrier 'Sacked' By Miami Dolphins

Steve Spurrier drove away from Miami without a job and, it would appear, without much of a future after the odyssey that has taken him from San Francisco to Tampa Bay to Denver and finally to Miami.

Spurrier, a 10-year veteran quarterback, was dropped from the Dolphins roster Tuesday, the victim of Bob Griese's ability to play with his glasses on.

Coach Don Shula had acquired Spurrier to strengthen the Dolphins' quarterbacking when he was worried he might lose Griese because of his eyesight troubles.

"Griese's performance against the Giants threw a different light on the situation," Shula said. Griese played with his glasses on in the Dolphins' 27-21 exhibition victory over the New York Giants last Sunday.

It was a bad day for other big name veterans, too, including Randy Vataha, Bob Lurtsema, Bill Bradley and Jim Kick, as National Football League teams trimmed their rosters to the 43-man limit.

Vataha, in his seventh pro season, was waived by the New England Patriots, but a club spokesman said the wide receiver already had been picked up by another team which he declined to name.

The Seattle Seahawks cut 34-year-old, 11-year veteran Lurtsema, who started at quarterback last year after being obtained from the Minnesota Vikings.

The Vikings dropped Bradley, whose injured back prevented him from edging veteran Paul Krause at safety.

Bradley was an All-Pro for several years with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was acquired during the summer for a future draft pick and was injured early in training camp. Kick, the running back who left the Dolphins in 1975 for the now-defunct World Football League, was waived by the Denver Broncos after a year in which he saw little action. The Broncos had signed him as a free agent.

The Oakland Raiders waived veteran defensive lineman Bob Brown, the 37-year-old obtained on waivers earlier this year from the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Super Bowl champions also waived rookies Ted McKnight, a running back, and Ruff Benirschke, a kicker who was claimed by the San Diego Chargers later in the day.

Rookie cornerback Mike Davis was placed on injured reserve. Shula also cut cornerback Ken Ellis, a former All-Pro, acquired from Houston last year, wide receiver Mike Holmes, running back Stan Winfrey and rookie wide receiver Terry Anderson.

Forsch's 17th Win Over Cubs

LA Two Victories From Flag

From Associated Press
Los Angeles hosts the Cincinnati Reds tonight in the opener of a two-game series, and when it's over the National League West Division race could be, too.

The Dodgers would have to win both games to clinch the pennant, but the way both teams played Tuesday night it wouldn't be surprising. The Dodgers humbled San Diego 10-4 while Cincinnati lost 13-4 to red-hot Houston.

But even one Los Angeles victory would put the Dodgers within one triumph or one Cincinnati loss of clinching a tie for the championship with more than two weeks to play.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat East pace setter Philadelphia 3-0 Tuesday night to cut the Phillies' lead to eight games. Other National League games saw the Montreal Expos defeat the New York Mets 8-5, St. Louis topple the Chicago Cubs 3-1 and San Francisco edged Atlanta 8-7 in 11 innings.

Cesar Cedeno had four hits and knocked in three runs for the Astros against Cincinnati, giving him three homers, two triples and eight hits in 10 at-bats in the last two games.

"It's one of my best streaks," said Cedeno, who has raised his average from a horrendous .174 on June 24 to .256. "I'm proud of what I've done."

The Astros' two-game sweep of the Reds has brought Houston to within 2 1/2 games of second-place Cincinnati.

Los Angeles pounded San Diego for 10 hits and scored 10 runs in an inning for the first time since 1971. The 10-run second frame was highlighted by two hits by Dusty Baker, who had a three-run homer and a two-run double.

Jim Rooker, 12-9, and Rich Gossage, combined for a five-hitter, with Gossage collecting his 21st save by going the last 11-3 innings and allowing no hits.

Phil Garner knocked in both Pittsburgh runs, bringing home Frank Taveras with a groundout after Taveras had tripled in the first and then tripling in another tally in the sixth.

Montreal trailed 4-0 after three innings and entered the bottom of the eighth trailing 4-3. But the Expos exploded for five runs in the eighth inning.

Pinch-hitter Jerry White singled in the tying run and Met reliever Skip Lockwood threw away Dave Cash's bunt for another tally before rookie Stan Papi's triple put the game away.

Jerry Mumphrey and Garry Templeton hit two-out singles in the fifth inning to score all three St. Louis runs.

Bob Forsch halted the Cubs on four hits through five innings to improve his record to 17-4 and become St. Louis' winningest pitcher since Bob Gibson won 19 games in 1972.

Bill Madlock's two-out single after three walks in the 11th inning handed the Giants a victory in the bottom of the 11th Tuesday night.

Madlock, who had three RBI in the game, got the game-winning hit off Dave Campbell, 0-6, who walked Darrell Evans, Tim Lincecum and Darrell Thomas to get into a jam. Randy Moffitt, 4-8, was the winner.

Illinois Moving Up Season One Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Tired of competing against the final regular season television package of Michigan-Ohio State and Southern Cal-UCLA, the University of Illinois is going to start and end its football season a week ahead of time in 1978 and 1980.

Illinois Athletic Director Cecil Coleman said Tuesday the usual season-ending Northwestern games at Champaign these two years will be played a week ahead of the start of the regular season.

Insisting that there is no great traditional rivalry between the two schools, Coleman cited better weather conditions, bigger crowds and a possibility of a regional television appearance among the reasons for the move.

John Pont, Northwestern head coach and athletic director, agreed to the move but said Northwestern cannot reschedule its home Illinois games because the students are not on campus that early in the season.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne

Duke, who was instrumental in putting together the popular Thanksgiving Day television meeting between Oklahoma and Nebraska when he headed the Big Eight, called the switch "progressive without sacrificing principles."

"The Michigan-Ohio State and Southern Cal-UCLA television package on the final day of the season not only affects the Big Ten but the entire nation," said Duke. "College football throughout suffers. The Mid-American Conference is switching dates because it cannot compete and other Big Ten schools are considering schedule changes."

"Those two games not only usually determine who will play in the Rose Bowl but go a long way in determining the national championship," added Duke.

Irish Coach Big On Conditioning

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — While Jim Johnson counts cadence for callsthenes on the Notre Dame drill field, it's easy to see he takes his own medicine.

At 210 pounds, the Irish secondary coach and newest assistant to Dan Devine weighs the same as 17 years ago when he played both offense and defense for Devine at Missouri.

Johnson, 36, who stresses conditioning, says he stays in shape by running and playing racquetball and tennis.

"He said, 'I remember the California game at the beginning of my senior year. I was quarterbacking but also was pressed into action at safety. I played 50 minutes of that game. I think I lost about 15 pounds, and I know I was dog tired when it was over."

He spent much of his junior and senior years going both ways at Missouri. He played in only three losing games during his three years of varsity action.

"I think the biggest thrill at Missouri were finishing the 1960 season undefeated at 11-0 with an Orange Bowl victory and winning the Bluebonnet Bowl against Georgia Tech after the 1962 season when we were 14-point underdogs."

Johnson played tight end for the Baltimore Colts in 1963, but knee surgery kept him from passing the physical the next year. He then coached at Joplin High School in Missouri, Missouri Southern Junior College, Drake University and the last four years as defensive coordinator under Lee Corso at Indiana.

"It's always hard leaving a place, and Indiana should have a good team this year," he said. "But it's great being back with Coach Devine after playing for him in college."

Devine calls Johnson "one of the most outstanding individuals I have known. When he was quarterbacking for me, hardly a word had to be passed between us during practice. All he had to do was give me a hand sign, and I knew what he meant, and vice versa. I don't think I have ever had that kind of relationship with any other quarterback."

Coleman said that the new NCAA television program provides a third more regional appearances thereby assuring the Big Ten of more regional football and, "Our chances of getting on television are better by making ourselves available on the earlier date."

Pont agreed and added "It sure will make recruiting a lot easier if we, for a change, can tell prospects our chances of appearing on television are greater."

Unlike the Northwestern-Illinois games where tradition is negligible, a rivalry say between Indiana and Purdue is great. Such a game could be pushed back from the final week of the season and have that much more of a chance of gaining a regional television date.

Bears Picked For NFC West Division Championship

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
There was a time when figuring out the division winners in the National Football League's National Conference was as easy as one, two, three.

One was a runaway by the Minnesota Vikings in the Central Division.

Two was a tussle between the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers in the West.

Three was a down-to-the-wire dogfight among the Dallas Cowboys, St. Louis Cardinals and Washington Redskins in the East.

Now the numbers are thoroughly jumbled.

The East, once the hardest division to figure, now looks like a near-runaway for the Cowboys, already a strong pick to win not only the division but the NFC title — and maybe even Super Bowl XII.

The Cards still have the explosive power to make things interesting and not enough defense to stay with Dallas — but enough of what it takes to outrun Washington.

Philadelphia and the New York Giants, revamped in a few key spots, have only slender chances to reach the long-sought goal of a .500 season.

In the West, the Rams not only look like sure champions but may be the only team in the division to finish over .500. Los Angeles is a powerhouse with or without the ball.

The San Francisco 49ers, who looked so promising and so spirited for a while a year ago, may find it tough trying to put it all together for another new coach. This time, they'll be closer to also-ran New Orleans and Atlanta.

Minnesota, which has ruled the Central Division for so long, is getting a bit crumbly around the edges and looks ripe for a tumble. The Vikings still will be tough in the clutch — but look for the Chicago Bears to get hot around midseason and make a run to the top.

Detroit, as usual, will be respectable. The only thing keeping Green Bay out of the basement is Tampa Bay.

Here's how the NFC standings

Lions' Gaines Not Ready Yet

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Lawrence Gaines won't be ready to play Sunday in Chicago, but the powerful Detroit Lions running back has begun workouts and should be available in a few more weeks, his coach says.

Gaines, Detroit's second-leading ground gainer last year as a rookie in the National Football League, has been out with a knee injury since the first day of training camp. He underwent surgery, his second operation since the end of last season.

"He'll be in uniform, catching a little and doing half speed work," Lions coach Tommy Hudspeth said Tuesday at the Big Eight Will Decide Titles On Percentage

Big Eight Conference championships in football, boys basketball and girls basketball will be decided on a percentage basis during the 1977-78 school year.

League officials made the decision because Niles won't play full conference schedules in the three sports. Some dropped Niles from their schedules when sports at the school were threatened by millage deficits.

After three defeats, Niles sports were saved by approval this month of a two-mill extra operating levy.

Tourney Planned

An open roster slow pitch softball tournament will be held at Fish Corners Sept. 23-25. Teams interested in the 16-team, double elimination event, which has a $75 entry fee, should contact Mike or Linda Rogers (744-9018).

There was only one position where Dallas was weak last year, the experts said. The Cowboys needed a powerhouse, breakaway runner, they said. With him, they predicted, it would be Super Team time.

Enter Tony Dorsett.

The Heisman Trophy winner from national collegiate champion Pitt, locked in battle with Preston Pearson for a starting job, adds immeasurable ground strength to a Dallas offense already deadly through the air via Roger Staubach's passing to Drew Pearson, Billy Joe DuPree and, this year, rookie Tony Hill from Stanford.

And if anyone questioned the Cowboys' defense, those fears were dispelled by their eight sack shutout job last week against Pittsburgh.

St. Louis still will be known as the Cardiac Cardinals, compliments of their Jim Hurt Terry Metcalf lightning offense and their porous defense. Victories like last year's 30-28 over Los Angeles and 30-24 against Seattle again will be typical.

Couch, George Allen's Redskins, who beat Dallas in the final regular-season game of 1976 and won the NFC wild card playoff berth, keep getting older. And this may be the year they finally stumble over the hill, with a defense being sliced up by injuries as well as age and the offense directed by Billy Kilmer sputtering at best.

The Eagles are pinning their hopes on former Los Angeles quarterback Ron Jaworski to lead them to respectability. They took a big step in that direction simply by winning during the preseason, something they failed to do a year ago. The Giants are searching for a quarterback and a steady running game in match a steadily improving defense. It appears what they do find won't be enough to get them near .500.

Whether young Pat Haden or old Joe Namath is calling the signals, the Rams will be fearful of what will be weekly news conferences.

He said Gaines, who ran for 659 yards and four touchdowns last year, would be ready "probably about the third game. His leg is improving quite a bit."

David Hill, second-year player from Texas A&M, will start at tight end against the Bears in place of veteran Charlie Sanders, still bothered by some minor injuries, Hudspeth added.

Also getting a start is cornerback Walt Williams, Detroit's first draft choice, who was chosen in the second round this year. He won the job ahead of veteran Levi Johnson.

"He came along quicker than I had expected," Hudspeth said of Williams. "I thought he'd move in and play a lot of football, but he's so aggressive and he did so well that he won the job."

Hudspeth said he decided that Ray Jarvis would join J. D. Hill at starting wide receiver. It had been a tossup between Jarvis and rookie Luther Blue for the starting spot.

Veteran Greg Landry is Hudspeth's choice to start at quarterback, but Hudspeth said he "is still wrestling" with whether Joe Reed or Gary Danielson will be the backup.

In order to beat the Bears, Hudspeth said, "We just have to be sure to get points on the board. It will be a tough game. The team that keeps its composure will win."

Bears-Lions games are traditionally very rough, often with many injuries resulting.

"Everybody goes out into a slugfest," Hudspeth said. "All you can do is try to control it." Detroit finished its exhibition season with a 3-3 record, while the Bears wound up 3-4 some. Considering that Lawrence McCutcheon and John Cappelletti on the ground and Harold Jackson and Ron Jessie on the line of attack. That offense doesn't have to score much to win, not with Jack Youngblood, Fred Dryer & Co. slammering the door.

Last season, Mott Clark had the 49ers hopping before a second-half letdown dropped them out of title contention. Now San Francisco — with Jim Plunkett still trying to prove his worth — has to try to gear up under new Coach Ken Meyer. He was brought in by general manager Joe Thomas, the franchise builder who canned Clark.

If Archie Manning really is healthy after last year's debilitating shoulder injury, if Chuck Muncie and Tony Galbreath really bloom as running backs and if Hank Stram really can work another miracle or two, the Saints will shake up a few teams. The same probably can't be said for Leeman Bennett, making his head coaching debut with the Falcons, despite a maturing but injury prone Steve Bartkowski and potential running star Haskel Stanback.

The Vikings are perhaps best known not as the perennial Central Division champions but as the perennial Super Bowl losers. They may not get the chance to tack on a fifth championship game loss (or maybe even a first win) this time.

The defense is starting to show a few cracks. Fran Tarkenton shows no sign of slowing down just yet — but maybe this time his propensity for losing the big ones won't wait until post-season time. Wide receiver Sammy White and all-purpose back Chuck Foreman, the latter coming off a divisive contract squabble, are still bright stars—but the supporting cast leaves some questions as to playing power. And a schedule much tougher than the emerging Bears could do them in.

Chicago will be banking on Mike Phipps or Bob Avellini to provide quarterback leadership that has been missing for several years. If Phipps, obtained in a trade with Cleveland, shows he was worth waiting for, and if Walter Payton gains 1,000 yards again, the Midway could have its Monsters back.

The Lions have made a career of hovering around the break-even mark every season. Even though they've got proven talent on both units, they never seem to put together more than one or two good games in a stretch.

Green Bay went big for defense in the draft, but it will take at least a year or two to develop it. However, at least the Packers have something to develop. Tampa Bay, with the exception of potential running back stars Anthony Davis and Ricky Bell, look every bit as good as last year's edition, when the Buccaneers were 0-14.

North Berrien Population Growth Forecast

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON,
Staff Writer

of Lincoln township, Assistant Planning Director Brian Sodi, who presented the population projections yesterday, said the study was based on a state prediction that Berrien's population in 2000 will be 188,400. The report estimated the 1975 population at 170,000. The study breaks the county into seven development districts as opposed to individual city, township, and village populations. Sodi said more accurate predictions can be made on the basis of districts instead of individual municipalities. The two districts which Sodi forecast will experience the greatest growth are the north and lakeside districts. The north district includes Niles, Coloma, and Watervliet townships and cities inside those townships. The lakeside district encompasses Lake, Baroda, Chikaming, and New Buffalo townships, and villages and cities within those boundaries.

Sodi predicted each district would contain 2.1 per cent more of the county's population than each had in 1975. The north district, according to the statistics, in 1975 had a population of 14,792, or 9 per cent of the Berrien population, and by 2000 would have 11.1 per cent, or 21,023 people.

The lakeside district showed a population of 15,287 in 1975, or 9.3 per cent of the total population, and by 2000 is predicted to have 11.4 per cent, or 21,592 people.

Sodi said he evaluated the performance of each district in the past 20 years to reach the figures, and based the population projections on trends in each district. He noted that because of the difficulty in predicting the population 23 years in the future, the figures may not hold true when 2000 arrives. "I don't have a crystal ball," he said.

Sodi told planners that although the projection shows that the population in some rural areas will decrease, "I don't really feel that will happen." He said the study had to be based on the projection the state supplied.

The populations in some districts for the year 2000 show an increase, over 1975, although their percentages of the county's population decreases. Sodi said that was because the population of the county as a whole would be going up by a higher rate than for a specific area.

Other districts cited in the study include (municipalities in district, followed by 1975 population and per cent and 2000 population and per cent of total county population):

Two cities — Benton, St. Joseph, Lincoln, and Royall townships and cities and villages within district: 70,348 and 42.9 in 1975; 77,096 and 40.7

in 2000. Southeast — Buchanan, Niles, and Bertrand townships plus villages and cities, 36,468 and 22.3; 39,206 and 20.7 in 2000. Lake Chapin — Oronoko and Berrien townships and villages, 12,371 and 7.5; 17,814 and 9.5 per cent.

North rural — Bainbridge,

Pipestone, and Sodus townships, 7,725 and 4.7; 7,006 and 3.8 in 2000. South rural — Weesaw, Three Oaks, and Galien townships and villages: 6,903 for 4.2 per cent; 5,882 for 3.0 per cent in 2000.

In another matter, planners received a copy of the proposed planning department budget calling for expenditures of $77,440 in 1978. The biggest increase over the present budget of $60,000, according to Planning Director Charles Eickenstauber, are $4,000 for purchase of a new car and $7,500 for a soil survey project.

Staff salary increases and miscellaneous items contribute to the remaining increase, he said. The budget must still be formally approved by the county board of commissioners.

Commissioners also voted to concur with an approval by the Berrien township planning commission for rezoning land at 189 East Napier avenue from residential to commercial for construction of a professional office building. The county planning commission is only an advisory board, and the final decision on the zoning change is up to the township board of trustees.

Harmony's Key Ingredient Of Saturday Show In SJ

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

When Grandma's Boys get together, it takes some driving and some telephoning. They live in four cities and two states. They'll be in St. Joseph Saturday as featured performers in the 29th annual Barbershop Quartet show sponsored by the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Chapter of the Society for Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Sharing the bill are the Fruit Belt chorus of 35 Twin City area singers directed by Roger Valentine and the Schulz-Phoenix quartet of Chicago. The show will start at 8 p.m. in St. Joseph high school auditorium. Grandma's Boys live in Chicago, Glenview, and Wilmette, Ill., and St. Joseph. The local representative is tenor Don Barnick, a native of Cleveland now employed at Heath Co. Grandma's Boys won their first district competition in 1968. Membership has changed, but the quartet has been a consistent high finisher, taking a third in the international two years ago. Grandma's Boys are all college graduates. Barnick has a degree in electrical engineering, which is an asset in being a certified sound judge in barbershop contests. Bartone Jay Giallombardo has a master's in theory and composition from Northwestern School of Music. Lead Hank Brandt is a Northwestern graduate and bass John Miller, an alumnus of Syracuse university. The Schulz-Phoenix are from the Chicago area and describe themselves as "four fun-loving kids dressed in middle age skins" as they combine singing and comedy. The Fruit Belt chorus will sing numbers as a group and also split into quartets — the Quadrifurds, Union Street Arrangement, and Jones Boys.

Tickets at $3.50 are available at Temple Barber Salon, St. Joseph, Lakeshore Belk & Slinn, Stevensville, Inter-City bank, Eau Claire branch, and from any barbershopper. Some tickets may be available at the door Saturday, according to Dale Leighty of the sponsoring committee.

Pact Needed, Kelley Rules

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Eye doctors and examiners must enter contract with the state to receive reimbursement for treating a Medicaid patient, the state attorney general said Tuesday.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said that under federal law optometrists and ophthalmologists who are not under a contract with the Department of Social Services cannot be paid for treating Medicaid patients.

Plant Tax Break Vetoed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — General Motors Corp. won't be getting a tax break on a planned expansion here after all. Lansing city council has decided, in a turnaround from its earlier position, the council this week voted to reject a proposal to freeze property taxes for GM's Oldsmobile Division under a state "plant rehabilitation" law designed to encourage industrial expansion. Under the law, taxes can be frozen for up to 12 years to stimulate expansion and creation of jobs. The council has approved, however, a tax break for Fisher Body Division of GM, located next to the Oldsmobile plant. The council originally approved both tax breaks in July. There was no word on why it switched positions on the Oldsmobile program.

Sewer Fund 'Freeze' May Hinder Lincoln Project

By AL AREND,
Staff Writer

Supervisor Bernice Tretheway had some "good" news and some potentially "bad" news for the Lincoln township board last night concerning the township's proposed $8.4 million sewage collection system.

The "good" news was that the township has received a negative declaration from the Environmental Protection Agency's Chicago regional office on the project. A negative declaration means the EPA had no negative comment concerning the township's application for funding.

The "bad" news was that yesterday a judge ordered a freeze put on $400 million of federal money allotted the state for sewer projects and earmarked it for Detroit area projects.

The state's share of the federal sewer grant pie was $620 million, according to Mrs. Tretheway. She said originally the state attorney general's office sought a freeze on $220 million for Detroit area sewer projects, which she said had been lagging behind in complying with application deadlines.

"If Lincoln township's project falls in the additional $180 million set aside for Detroit, we could be in trouble," Mrs. Tretheway said. "It just depends where we stand on the priority list."

Also in connection with the sewer project, the township board passed a resolution, as required by the EPA, saying all work under the project shall be conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations for federally assisted construction projects.

The EPA deadline for accepting applications is Oct. 1.

If approved, the federal grant could pay for about half of the $8.4 million project.

In other areas, the township board in its last meeting at the township hall in downtown Stevensville, set the township property tax millage rate at 4 mills for 1977. Last year's rate was 4.076 mills.

Of the four mills, one mill goes toward general operating expenses, 2.5 mills for water and sewer debt, and half a mill for library operations. Clerk Christine Welch said .078 of a mill was knocked off the water and sewer debt rate.

The township's 1977 state equalized valuation is $78,307,340, compared to $72,329,971 last year. Lincoln township residents living in the Lakeshore school district will be assessed a total of 42.3 mills in property taxes in 1977. St. Joseph school district, 51.44 mills and Bridgman school district, 24.863 mills.

The total rate includes schools and the county as well as the township.

The board approved putting $19,000 into the parks fund for development of a shelter building to be constructed near the community center, tennis courts. The parks commission already has $19,000 set aside for building construction. David Ohman, parks commission chairman, said he felt the building could be constructed for between $27,000 and $30,000. The proposed shelter would be 23 by 66 feet.

A proposed rummage or garage sale ordinance developed by the township citizen's committee was referred to the township planning commission for review.

The board approved entering into a cleaning contract with Combination Enterprises.

Stevensville, for interior cleaning of the new township hall at $20 per week.

The board approved putting all money obtained from the sale of the old township hall into the community center development fund.

Mineral removal permits were granted to Stephen Paul and Daniel Luckert, at 5395 Washington avenue, for construction of a 40 by 125 foot, 10-foot deep pond and Clayton Wilker for fill off the Red Arrow highway between Ridge road and Schuler's restaurant.

The board gave final approval of the preliminary plat for Colonial Estates subdivision.

It was announced that public hearing dates for a special assessment district for street lights for Colonial Estates and on use of federal revenue sharing funds were set for 7:45 p.m. Oct. 11 at the new township hall. Federal revenue sharing funds will amount to $53,582 for Oct. 1, 1977 thru Sept. 30. Free days at the Berrien county landfill for Lincoln township residents will be Saturday mornings from 8 to noon during October.

AMC's Offer 'Not Enough'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A new contract proposal by the American Motors Corp. was rejected Tuesday by a United Auto Workers official as negotiations continued in an effort to avert a strike against the nation's fourth-largest automobile manufacturer.

"We have a new proposal from the company. It's not enough but we're still in the process of negotiation," said Ray Majerus, Director of Region 10 of the UAW.

Van Buren Board Picks Personnel-Planning Chief

By DENNIS CUGSWELL,
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A 28-year-old Galesburg man has been selected to become Van Buren county's first personnel and planning director.

County commissioners Tuesday approved hiring Richard L. Kinas to fill the newly-created $12,000-a-year post. Kinas, who holds a bachelor's degree in public administration from Western Michigan university, Kalamazoo, will begin work Oct. 1.

Currently working as a counselor at a private employment agency in Kalamazoo, Kinas served as finance coordinator of the 1976 Congressional campaign of Howard Wolpe of Kalamazoo.

Commissioner George Fritz, chairman of the board's administrative affairs committee, said Kinas was selected from a field of 11 applicants and will be in charge of posting job openings and setting job classifications. Fritz said department heads, however, will still retain the authority for hiring.

The commissioner also said Kinas will work closely with the county planning commission, develop state and federal grant applications, and assist in special projects. One such project, Fritz said, may be the expansion of the present county jail.

In other areas, the board approved a three-year agreement to lease 10,024 square feet of the county social services building in the state Department of Management and Budget. Commissioner Edwin Twitchell said the agreement will net the county $53,888-a-year.

The state is leasing the building for use by the Department of Social Services. Twitchell said that upon completion of a 14,200 square foot addition to the building, the rental fee will be re-negotiated, and a new 10-year lease signed.

On a 5 to 4 vote, the board okayed adding another probation officer for juvenile court. The person filling the job would specialize in difficult cases, working closely with the child, his parents, and the school. The position will be funded under the CETA program.

Commissioners opposing the move said they were concerned that the juvenile court staff was becoming too large.

"We have to realize that we're in a county that has more than its share of crime, ADC, and family problems," said Fritz, who voted to approve the position. "And the juvenile problem runs right alongside those problems."

Supporting addition of the position were Fritz, Daniel Skarritt, Twitchell, Linda Sparks, and Ruth Lytle. Gerald Rondel, Wesley Wickett, Shirley Jackson, and James Wellington cast negative votes.

Commissioners approved an agreement with the state highway department extending the county's bus transportation program another 13 months. Originally set up to provide rides for senior citizens and the handicapped, the system now provides transportation for anyone who wishes to ride. Twitchell noted after the meeting that the buses provided 1,200 rides during July, and that service may be eventually expanded from two to five vehicles.

Commissioners agreed to seek an opinion on the legality of the county making a contribution to the St. Joseph-based Child and Family Services of Michigan. The agency provides family, pregnancy and adoption counseling in Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren counties.

Although the organization is non-profit, it is also a private corporation. Twitchell questioned the legality of a public body contributing to a private organization. A $2,000 donation to the agency has been included in the county's yet-unadopted 1978 budget.

Wellington reported he had met with federal officials concerning the possibility of setting up a legal aid program in the county. He said he was told any Van Buren program would have to be administered under an existing program, in either Kalamazoo or Berrien county.

The commissioner said he told the officials the county board was against relinquishing local control.

The board also approved a $15,000 appropriation to the county Youth Services Bureau, and appointed Mary Laundry of Covert to a vacancy on the Region IV Commission on Aging.

TALL AND SMALL: Standing almost seven feet tall, Detroit Piston all-star center Bob Lanier can reach any coin telephone. But up until recently, six-year-old Kerri Hines, the 1977 Michigan Easter Seal Society poster child, may have had some problems. To make pay phone calling more convenient for handicapped people like Kerri, Michigan Bell is lowering the height of its 4,000 pay phones around the state.

You're Not Growing -- The Phones Are Lower

You're not getting taller — Michigan Bell's pay phones are getting lower.

The telephone company is lowering the height of its pay telephones to make them more accessible to handicapped persons, children and others who have difficulty using standard-height pay phones, according to Ed Mabin, district manager here for Michigan Bell. The standard height from the ground to the pay phone coin slot was 62 inches. But three years ago revised State of Michigan guidelines were issued which called for new pay phones to be installed at 54 inches to make them more accessible to the public — especially to handicapped people, Mabin said.

"Even though these state guidelines affected only a portion of our coin phones," he said, "we decided that our goal would be to lower all of them to the 54-inch height and we're doing that gradually as we put in new pay phones or replace older ones." Since 1974, Michigan Bell has converted about 10,000 of its 32,500 pay phones in the Detroit metropolitan area and about 5,000 of its 18,500 pay phones in outstate communities to the new 54-inch height, Mabin said. He noted there are more than 300 pay phones in the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area.

Michigan Bell also is phasing out enclosed telephone booths — which can be a hindrance to some handicapped people — by mounting more pay phones on walls or metal poles, Mabin said. At present, he added, the company only has about 3,000 enclosed telephone booths left in the state — mostly outdoor booths along highways.

State Tracing Sales Of DBCP

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state health department has launched a search for farmers and other Michigan residents who used a pesticide suspected of causing sterility in humans and cancer in animals.

The Department of Public Health announced Tuesday it is trying to trace all sales of the chemical pesticide DBCP from manufacturers through distributors and dealers to consumers.

The search is aimed at determining if there have been any adverse effects from exposure to the chemical.

The chemical was marketed under the trade names of Fumigone and Nemagon.

The department also checked Dow Chemical Co.'s Midland plant for traces of the chemical. The pesticide was manufactured there until early 1976, when the operation was moved to Magnolia, Ark.

After some male workers at the Magnolia plant were found to be producing little or no sperm, Dow and other firms which manufactured DBCP began testing employees who handled the substance. A number of cases of sterility have been found, and tests continue. Earlier animal tests disclosed the possible link with cancer.

Health officials said DBCP production equipment at Dow's Midland plant had been removed and no further traces of the substance have been found there. The department is continuing surveillance of Dow's official program for workers who were employed in the DBCP manufacturing process in Midland from 1957 to 1976.

State health Director Maurice Reizen said 110 gallons of the chemical were sold in Michigan in 1977 before Dow and Shell Oil Co. halted their production and recalled stocks.

Previous annual sales averaged less than 200 gallons, he said.

"We are tracing all sales of the compound and contacting all purchasers to be sure that no additional work exposure occurs and that remaining stocks of the chemical are properly handled in their return shipment to manufacturers," Reizen said.

He said the chemical decomposes quickly in soil, and no detectable residue is likely to be found after a growing season.

Court Hears Testimony Of Degradation And Death

DETROIT (AP) — For two days before her death, a 41-year-old Detroit woman was beaten, raped, scalded and forced to grovel on her hands and knees, according to Detroit Recorder's Court testimony.

The testimony by Ernestine Downer Price, 26, came during Tuesday's preliminary examination of her boyfriend, Roy Jackson Jr., 28, of Detroit.

Visiting Judge David Wilson ordered Jackson to stand trial for the murder of Charlotte Cloutier after hearing more than an hour of Mrs. Price's testimony. Mrs. Cloutier's battered body was found in a parking lot behind Jackson's apartment on Aug. 22.

According to Mrs. Price, Jackson ordered her on Aug. 20 to get some wine and "pick up a woman for him" on the way back. She said he had asked her to do that before so they could force the woman into prostitution, but Mrs. Price said she never did.

This time, she said, Mrs. Cloutier met her on the street and asked for a drink. Mrs. Price said she would give her one if she came home with her.

When they got there, the couple beat Mrs. Cloutier after accusing her of stealing $5 from a dresser, Mrs. Price said. Jackson forced Mrs. Cloutier to perform a sex act on her, she said, and then raped the woman and beat her with a table leg.

Mrs. Price said she went to bed late Saturday, leaving the other two alone in the living room. She said Jackson was in bed with her when she awoke Sunday morning and he told her the woman was "on the floor where she belongs."

He spent most of that day beating and degrading the woman, forcing her to call him "daddy" and to crawl around on her hands and knees, Mrs. Price testified.

Mrs. Price testified that he threw a pocket knife at Mrs. Cloutier, causing deep cuts.

Mrs. Price said the couple left her in the bathtub and found her dead, slumped under the water a short time later.

An autopsy showed multiple blunt-force blows to her head, torso and extremities were the cause of death.

Mrs. Price said Jackson tried to get rid of Mrs. Cloutier's fingerprints with furniture polish. She said she later tried to commit suicide because she was afraid of him and he had threatened her.

Police had no clues in the case until a woman identifying herself as "Star" called in.

= Gallup Youth Survey =

PRINCETON, N.J. — Efforts to convince America's teenagers of the dangers of smoking apparently have been highly successful.

A huge majority of teenagers, 98 per cent, believe smoking to be bad for one's health, while another 89 per cent feel that smoking is a cause of cancer, and 78 per cent link smoking and heart disease, according to the latest Gallup Youth Survey. Even among smokers (one-fourth of all teenagers), as many as 89 per cent say smoking is injurious to health.

Vandalism Reported At Coloma

COLOMA — Seven 10-foot long wooden railings and an undetermined number of wood posts were found broken in the Tala Medical and Professional center, Red Arrow highway, Coloma township, yesterday.

Officer John Friese found the damaged railings and posts while patrolling. No estimate of damage was reported. The railings and posts border the edge of the main driveway into the center.

Stereo Rig Is Stolen In Sawyer

SAWYER — Dale Curry, Brownstown road, Sawyer, told Berrien sheriff's deputies that stereo equipment, valued at $700, was taken from his home yesterday.

Curry told deputies from the Galien station he left the home between 1 and 3:30 p.m. and discovered the equipment was missing when he returned. Items reported missing included an amplifier, two speakers, a tape deck and a turntable.

with 77 per cent believing it to be a cause of cancer and 87 per cent of heart disease.

Interestingly, little difference is found in views on the dangers of smoking between boys and girls and between younger and older teens.

Why do young people start smoking? The reasons given most often by the teen-agers themselves are to not grow up (45 per cent) or give reasons that could be classified as peer pressure (38 per cent).

Indicative of peer pressure are survey results which show that 85 per cent of smokers compared to only 30 per cent of non-smokers say that more than half of their close friends smoke.

Another key reason given by teen-agers for smoking is to emulate parents (21 per cent). All other reasons are cited by four per cent or less.

Present non-smokers (76 per cent of the teen-age sample) were asked if they had smoked previously. The one in five (18 per cent) who answered affirmatively were then asked why they had quit.

Although aware of health hazards associated with smoking, teen-agers are more likely to say they kicked the habit because they simply didn't like the experience and were repelled by the taste or smell.

Four in 10 (43 per cent) give reasons that fall into this category, as compared to 26 per cent who cite health hazards.

This survey was the second and final in a two-part series in teen-age smoking habits and attitudes. Among the key findings in the first report:

• One-fourth (24 per cent) of the nation's teen-agers smoke cigarettes, with girls as likely as boys to smoke.

• About one in eight (13 per cent) of younger teens (13-15) smoke at least occasionally, while 32 per cent of the latter teens (16-18) do so.

• Teen-age smokers are "light" smokers for the most part, with about 2 in 3 smoking half a pack per day or less, and about 3 in 10 smoking more than half a pack. Only three per cent of teen-agers smoke a pack or more each day.

The survey results were based on a representative sample of 1,035 teen-agers from across the nation, interviewed by telephone during the period June 22 to July 8.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Prices Dip On Wall St.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined today following a prime rate increase late Wednesday by a large New York bank.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell almost 2 points in early trading.

Losers outnumbered gainers by a 5-4 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After the NYSE close Wednesday, New York's Chase Manhattan Bank raised its prime lending rate from 7 to 7 1/4 per cent.

The move marked a continuation of the recent rise of interest rates as the Federal Reserve has tightened credit in an effort to reduce inflationary pressures by curbing the growth of the money supply.

Today's early prices included RCA, up 1/4 at 26 1/2; General Telephone & Electronics, off 1/4 at 30 1/2; and General Motors, down 1/4 at 68 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average managed a token advance of .18 to 854.56.

But Dow Jones' transportation and utility averages both declined, and losers outnumbered gainers by a 7-4 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume hit a 10-month low of 14.90 million shares, held down by observance of the Jewish holiday Rosh Hashana.

The NYSE's composite index edged up .02 to 52.86.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .07 at 117.94.

Oronoko Approves Subdivision Rules

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A new subdivision ordinance was approved by the Oronoko township board here last night.

The new 30-page ordinance regulates all facets of new subdivision developments, according to Alex Miskiewicz, township clerk. The new ordinance, in preparation over a year, becomes effective 30 days after publication.

Miskiewicz said a major change under the new ordinance is that paved streets and sidewalks will be a requirement for all new subdivisions.

In other areas, the board established the 1977 township property tax rate at one mill, the same as last year. Tax money raised from the mill is for general operating purposes.

The low bid of $2,047 from Shane Orchard Supply, Watervliet, was accepted by the board for a 12-horsepower mower for use at Rose Hill cemetery. Two other bids were received.

The cemetery committee was authorized to advertise for bids for the sale of two old mowers which will be replaced by the new mower. The cemetery committee also was authorized to seek bids for the purchase of a new weed spray rig.

The township clerk was authorized by the board to contract for insulating the ceiling of the township hall.

Allegan's Auction Brings In $86,000

ALLEGAN — Some 235 animals were auctioned off here yesterday at the Allegan county fair, bringing in a total of $86,072, $1,562 less than last year.

According to the county 4-H office here, the grand champion beef steer sold for $2.10 per pound while the reserve champion sold for $1.40 a pound. Both were sold in Miller Brothers, Allegan. The grand champ brought a total of 2,856 to Keith Immink, Hamilton. The reserve champ was shown by Ruyce Parker, Hamilton.

The grand champion hog of Tony Jostberns, Hamilton, was sold to Gordon Baehre Ford, Allegan. It brought $1,100 or $5 per pound. Todd Jones, Hamilton, sold his reserve champ hog for $2 a pound and it went to Hope Equipment Co., South Haven.

The grand champion market lamb sold for $437 or $3.50 a pound. The lamb, shown by Tracy Arlington, Allegan, was sold to the Allegan Knights of Columbus. Tracy's brother, Todd, received $2.25 a pound for his reserve champion lamb. It sold in Atty. Edward Reed Barton, Allegan.

Fair officials said no attendance figures were kept yesterday, the fifth day of the nine-day fair. Officials said all-day rains kept attendance down.

Fair activities today included a ladies day program, pony pulling contests and the Hubert Castle 3-ring circus tonight at 8 p.m. The fair runs through Saturday.

Social Security Expansion Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than six million federal, state and local governmental employees could begin paying into Social Security under a bill passed by a House panel.

The change, if finally approved by Congress and the President, would make Social Security virtually a universal retirement plan while providing a quick revenue boost of some $10 billion to the financially pressed system.

Social Security already covers about 108 million Americans, more than 90 per cent of all employed people. The government workers account for most of those left out.

Congressmen and officials, besides rank-and-file civil servants, are included in the proposed expansion.

Tuesday's 6-2 vote by the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security is subject to further review by the

$458 Billion U.S. Budget Is Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security and welfare programs will consume the largest share of a $458.3 billion 1978 budget that has been approved by House and Senate conferees.

The budget sets general ground rules for spending and taxation in the new fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The compromise came on Tuesday, two days ahead of the congressional deadline for setting federal spending limits.

The budget includes a $61.3 billion deficit, the second largest in the country's history. The deficit is up from this year's $45.1 billion but lower than last year's record $66.4 billion.

The overall spending bill is slightly under the $462.8 billion recommended by President Carter, who has vowed he will balance the budget by the time his term ends. Carter's budget would have produced a deficit of $61.5 billion.

Some $148.1 billion will be used to pay Social Security and welfare benefits. Defense will get $110.1 billion, health programs, $47.2 billion and education, job-training and social services will get $26.4 billion.

Some $41.7 billion is earmarked for paying just the interest on the national debt, which should climb to $780 billion by the end of 1978. The interest amounts to $114.2 million a day.

The budget was put together in an atmosphere of congressional concern over the state of the economy. The budget assumes continued high unemployment and only moderate economic growth over the next 12 months.

One of the truckers, Lambert A. Chaffin, 56, of Onondaga, Mich., was listed in "fair" condition this morning in University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was transferred after X-rays taken at Memorial hospital revealed he sustained a fractured vertebra in the 7:45 a.m. collision.

John C. Boyd, 20, and Robert C. Boyd, 21, were reported treated at Memorial hospital and released after the crash.

According to Gustafson, a truck driven by John Boyd, with Robert Boyd as a passenger, was attempting to pass a second truck driven by Chaffin when the collision occurred. Gustafson said both trucks slid sideways on wet pavement and rolled over.

Both trucks involved in the collision were destroyed, Gustafson said. No tickets were issued.

WMU Faculty OKs Pact

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — With just 28 dissenting votes, faculty members at Western Michigan University approved a new contract this week. Faculty members approved the offer 409 to 28.

The offer provides across-the-board increases in salaries and fringe benefits totaling more than nine per cent, according to university officials. University trustees decide whether to ratify the offer Friday. The contract proposal was made after faculty members struck as fall classes began Aug. 29. Their strike lasted just one day.

Crackup Cleanup 8-Hr. Job

It took about eight hours Tuesday to clean up the wreckage of two semi-trucks and their cargoes after a collision on the eastbound lanes of I-94 between Benton Harbor and Coloma.

Berrien sheriff's officers reported the eastbound lanes were closed for about 45 minutes after the 7:45 a.m. crash, but the cleanup wasn't completed until about 4 p.m. Eastbound traffic was detoured over I-196 to Red Arrow highway.

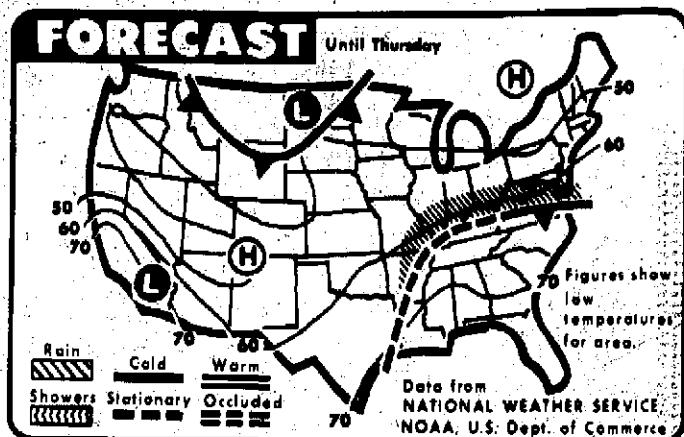

Spilled along the roadway was a load of 30,000 bottles of Palm and Andecker beer. The other truck was carrying about 200 hogs of which 16 were killed in the crash, according to Deputy Dan Gustafson. Benton township firemen cut a hole in the trailer top to free surviving hogs which were transferred to another stock truck.

One of the truckers, Lambert A. Chaffin, 56, of Onondaga, Mich., was listed in "fair" condition this morning in University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was transferred after X-rays taken at Memorial hospital revealed he sustained a fractured vertebra in the 7:45 a.m. collision.

Zoning Variances Okayed In Keeler

KEELER — The Keeler township zoning board of appeals granted three zoning variances last night during the board's reorganizational meeting. Clerk Richard Lindenberg said variances granted by the board will permit Gayle Gunther to operate a beauty shop in the basement of her home; Max Decker to build an addition on his home; and Frank Kish to build an addition to the front of his home.

Elected officers for the coming year in the reorganization meeting were Graham Brimhall as chairman and Lindenberg as clerk.

Medicare Patients Face Higher Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising hospital costs are being cited by officials as the reason for increasing the amount of money Medicare patients will have to contribute toward payment of their hospital bills.

Some six million recipients of Medicare treatment for the elderly will be affected by the rate increases, announced Tuesday by HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr.

Califano said the increases will mean that hospitalized Medicare patients will pay a total of nearly $800 million out of their own pockets next year for their share of hospital costs. That is an average of about $150 each.

The increases in required payments range from $20 for hospital stays of up to 60 days to $10 a day for periods of confinement beyond 90 days.

Califano coupled the announcement with a renewed plea to Congress to pass the Carter administration's proposal to put a nine per cent cap on hospital fee increases, which he blamed for the Medicare hike.

Growers Must Tell Their Story

BY JOE HERMAN
Staff Writer

B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA), told area growers and agricultural representatives yesterday that the general public has to be made aware of the problems of agriculture.

Ball spoke at a public luncheon held at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn designed to give area growers the opportunity to meet with the Michigan Agricultural Commission.

The luncheon concluded the regular monthly meeting of the commission here. The commission, governing body over the Michigan Department of Agriculture, holds several meetings each year at various locations outside of Lansing.

"The problems of agriculture in this state may not receive as much attention as those of the auto industry," Ball noted, "but they actually affect many more people. Everyone's got to eat, and when food production is hampered it affects everyone."

Ball told the gathering of around 75 people that farmers should try to keep legislators aware of specific problems of farm production. Several growers at the meeting expressed dissatisfaction at government policies regarding employment regulations.

"The red tape involved now with employment is driving many farmers towards automation," Ball commented. "That decreases jobs and hurts the entire economy."

It was also noted that the employment of youths on the farm, once a major source of agricultural labor, has been made increasingly difficult through legislation in recent years.

Senator Charles O. Zoller (B-Benton Harbor), who attended the meeting, said that very few legislators are even familiar with farm operations.

"I can only think of three senators now who have some realization of farm concerns," said Zoller. "It used to be about 65 per cent had farm backgrounds. Now we have to struggle with those who represent interest groups or urban areas. Most don't realize the importance of agriculture as an industry."

Ball said that future policies of the MDA will attempt to promote a change in agricultural credit programs. Ball stated that farmers should be allowed to make credit payments on the basis of each year's agricultural production. Payments would be reduced in short crop years, and increased in profitable years.

Senator Charles O. Zoller (B-Benton Harbor), who attended the meeting, said that very few legislators are even familiar with farm operations.

Successful bidders will be required to furnish Performance, Labor and Material Bonds, and necessary insurances to comply with State laws and the Architect's specifications.

Student Robbed; Suspect Is Held

A youth accused of assaulting a Benton Harbor high school student on the campus and stealing a watch was arraigned in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday on a charge of unlawful robbery.

Willie C. Edison, 18, of 608 Payne street, Benton Harbor, demanded a preliminary examination on the felony charge. He was jailed after failing to post $7,500 bond set by Judge John T. Hammond.

Edison is accused of assaulting and taking a watch from Danny Winter Monday.

Principal Wallace Dunn said Edison is not a student and was on the campus during the noon hour. Dunn said Winter is a student.

In other District court actions, three people demanded hearings on felony charges, three were bound over to Circuit court for trial, and 18 were sentenced on various misdemeanor charges.

Willie B. Hall, 23, of 1083 1/2 Union street, Benton Harbor, demanded a hearing on a charge of cashing an insurance check for $57.40 at the Man Alive store in Fairplain Plaza Aug. 1. She failed to post $3,000 bond.

Michael Neubauer, 20, of 2088 East Empire avenue, Benton township, demanded a hearing on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a wristband with 1/2-inch long metal spikes — in an auto Sept. 11 in Benton township. Neubauer was also sentenced to serve 30 days in jail, pay a fine and costs of $200 and spend one year on probation for driving under the influence of intoxicants.

William M. Anderson II, 20, of 4106 Coloma road, Riverside, was bound over after waiving examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon — a shotgun — on Berrien Sheriff's Deputy Michael Hopson on July 5.

Anderson is accused of pointing a shotgun at Hopson and threatening to shoot the officer moments before Hopson fired his service revolver at Anderson, wounding him in the left leg. Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanica ruled the shooting was "fully justified."

Anderson's court appearance came after a two-month delay during which he was recuperating in Berrien General hospital. He was released on a $2,000 personal recognizance bond.

Sanford A. Spear, 19, of 100 Niles, Berrien Springs, was bound over after waiving examination on a charge of unlawful robbery. He is accused of beating and stealing a wallet from Ervin Cousins in Benton township Sept. 2. Spear was returned to jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Jimmie Lee Flowers, 23, of 1773 Plympton avenue, Benton township, was bound over on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a .357 magnum revolver — in a car in Benton township Sept. 1. He failed to post $5,000 bond.

Clayton Estridge, 39, no known address, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail for malicious destruction of property — breaking a window at a house in Watervliet township Sept. 11.

Lore Emma Grant, 54, of 1301 South Euclid avenue, Benton township, was sentenced to pay a fine and costs of $123 for shoplifting four packs of cigarettes from Kroger's in Benton township Sept. 12.

Walter Brown Jr., 51, of 2211 Townline road, rural Benton Harbor, was sentenced to pay $200 and spend six months on probation for reckless use of a firearm — a 12-gauge shotgun — in Benton township Sept. 3. A pellet from the shotgun blast struck Samuel Warren, 27, of 113 Townline. In the back, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies. Warren was treated and released from Mercy hospital following the incident which apparently stemmed from an argument, officers said.

Lawyer Neal, 20, of Chicago, was sentenced to two days in jail and $200 or 180 days for disgusting himself with intent to intimidate.

According to the arrest warrant, he gave state Trooper DeWayne Heltenga various combinations of three different names and two dates of birth after being arrested by the officer on I-94 in Lake township Sept. 13. Neal was also sentenced to pay $35 or serve two days for transporting open intoxicants in an auto.

Shavellie Renay Cauty, 27, of Harvey, Ill., was sentenced to pay $100 or serve 30 days for recklessly carrying a firearm — a .38-caliber revolver — in Chikaming township Sept. 12. A mini arrested with her, Herbert C. Wharton, 22, also of Harvey, was sentenced to pay $100 and spend six months on probation for use of marijuana.

Ronnie C. Scott, 38, of Homulus, Mich., was sentenced to three days and $200 or 30 days for attempting to elude a police officer Aug. 6 in Coloma township.

Powers, 22, of Chertonton, Ind., and Ross Watkins, 60, of Whiting, Ind., each $150 or 30 days.

Falters In Foreign Policy

Canal Is Big Carter Test

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's no wonder Jimmy Carter is concentrating on the Panama Canal treaty.

The treaty represents virtually his only major foreign policy achievement in almost eight months in the White House.

It also represents a crucial test of Carter's ability to get his way with Congress and with the public.

In the beginning, the President and his advisers decided to concentrate on three fronts: the Middle East, an arms accord with the Russians and southern Africa.

Subsequently, a fourth, China, was added to the priority list. In none of these areas has he managed a break-through so far, but he may be on the brink in southern Africa at least.

Some of Carter's advisers are experienced diplomats. Others, while part of the "establishment," have academic backgrounds but little practical experience.

Together, they shared the impatience of waiting out Henry A. Kissinger's eight years of tight control. Once in office, they may have been unduly exuberant about finding quick solutions to complicated problems.

In the case of the Panama Canal, however, Carter got his break-through. Negotiators Ellsworth Bunker and Sal Linowitz worked out a compromise with the Panamanians that stands a chance of clearing Congress while also improving U.S. relations with Latin America.

Even if the treaty fails, Carter and the State Department will be credited with good intentions around the hemisphere.

At the same time, though, the President has suffered a loss of credibility, and has given conservatives an opportunity to form a political coalition that may be used against him in other areas.

During the campaign, Carter promised he "would never give up complete control or practical control of the Panama Canal."

Essentially, one part of the treaty would do just that.

Opponents are making use of that fact and starting to turn it against the White House in the Middle East and the Far East.

Their argument: if Carter would give up control of the canal can he be counted on to maintain U.S. commitments to Israel, Taiwan and South Korea?

Israel, for example, is being urged to surrender buffer territory to the Arabs largely on the promise that the United States will keep its commitment to the security and survival of the Jewish state.

So the implications of the fight for ratification of the Panama treaty reaches far beyond the future of the Panama Canal.

Carter's ability to deliver is being tested. A victory could make future victories easier; a defeat would weaken the President and might make him vulnerable on other fronts.

Beyond this practical fact of life, there is the possibility that congressional forces opposed to the treaty could grow and consolidate into coalitions challenging him in the Middle East and in relations with the Russians and the Chinese.

Conservatives uneasy about the treaty will study any arms agreement with the Russians for questionable U.S. concessions.

They are likely to be joined by a number of liberals in challenging any Middle East agreement that is considered risky for Israel.

As long as the canal treaty is before Congress, arms and Middle East negotiations will feel certain inhibitions.

There is no evidence, though, that this has slowed them. Critical talks are scheduled this month, between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and with Arab and Israeli foreign ministers.

In moving toward closer relations with China, however, Carter does seem to have slowed his pace because inevitably his policy will lead to some sort of break with Taiwan.

Administration strategists know how politically painful this could be, particularly at a time when the canal treaty has aroused conservatives.

It isn't hard to understand why one White House official has been quoted as saying: "The President cannot afford to be defeated on Panama."

Seattle 'Street Sleepers' Gird For Winter's Onset

SEATTLE (AP) — Their beds are made with cardboard sheets and concrete pillows. The more determined ones drag rusty springs and matted mattresses under an abutment or a clump of bushes.

They are the transients — the bums — who live near downtown Seattle's elevated highways, under bridges, in alleys and open doorways.

There are bags and rags and bottles and heaps of clothing — and then the pairs of feet, protruding from doorways and holes in hillsides.

Around the city, along the waterfront and Skid Road, there are dozens of feet.

Under bushes in parks, behind walls, atop ledges, in all the places a man could comfortably lie down or sit propped up, there are either the trappings of the street campers, or the men themselves.

Their lot — never an easy one — is made even tougher with the onset of winter.

"In the summer, it's not so bad, because the weather is not so bad. But here come the rains now, and then the cold, and then the misery," says the Rev. Wes Durland, director of the First Avenue Service Center.

"One of the big problems down here now is that it has suddenly gotten dangerous to sleep out. We've had repeated cases of men being beaten, by bums with wine bottles as well as by people, thugs, who come along in cars," he said.

"That's why so many of them, dozens at a time, are cuddling up together down at Western and Battery under the viaduct — for protection."

Not all of them are wimps or unable to get jobs.

The young couple sleeping in a hillside under the Alaskan Way Viaduct were different. They had $1,000 in cash, a 4-month-old baby, and they lived under the viaduct for two months.

"The woman was still breastfeeding the baby," said Bill Bell, a volunteer worker at the First Avenue Service Center.

"I was down there one day, having a spot of wine, and they just put this money out there — $1,200 bills. The man, named Glen, said, 'Take what you need.'"

"Well, I need the money. But I couldn't take theirs, with the baby and all," said Bell. "They said, 'We don't need it. We're God's children. The Lord will provide.'"

"I think they left last week," Bell said. "Man, I couldn't figure that one."

"A few years ago, I spent a few nights under the stars," said Jay Wagner, also a volunteer at the center. "There's some freedom to it. Some won't take a bed even if you paid them to sleep in it."

"But mostly these are desperate people, broke, drunk or with no place to go," said

Wagner. "You don't really hear about them until winter. They'll be out here every night, and eventually one of them will freeze to death, and then you'll hear about it."
